BOARD HEARS ASSESSMENT PROTESTS

Taxpayers Voice Frustration at Hearings

(Other Stories, Page 23)

Mrs. Marilyn Fennell, a Burlingame widow with five children, summed up the frustration of a group of unhappy homeowners when she told the County Board of Supervisors

"There is no sense in asking people to protest if you can't do anything about it."

She was talking about the futility of trying to persuade the board that human considerations are more important than stark legalities when it comes to tax assessments.

"The county assessor's office," chief appraiser Paul McKay had said, "has no right at all to grant relief just because you can't pay the taxes. We're appraising property, not people."

"I think you should consider people," Mrs. Fennell retorted. "There are extenuating circumstances in many cases that somebody ought to give some consideration to. I'm sure none of you people are making do with five children on $3,600 a year."

Mrs. Fennell, of 1340 Bernal Avenue, was among the first to appear before the supervisors, sitting as a board of equalization last week.

Nineteen cases had been scheduled for the morning session at 10-minute intervals, all of which were based on claims of financial hardship.

First to be heard was Mrs. K. E. Tammi, 316 Oak Court, Menlo Park, who had written to the board "We cannot pay any higher city taxes. We have done nothing to this house. It gets older every year but the taxes go up. Why?"

McKay told the board that what Mrs. Tammi had written was not a valid basis for protest.

"The county assessor's office has nothing to do with taxes," McKay explained. "If taxes go up—and I'll never say this again, but it's true—we could care less." If the statement sounded harsh, McKay said he was merely trying to emphasize the role of the office.

As it worked out, the new assessed value on the Tammi home was less than she and her husband paid for it less than a year ago.

"We are only 11 months in this country," Mrs. Tammi explained, "and when you make a home, it take lots of money."

Hugo and Frances Rickman of 421 San Diego Avenue, Daly City, told the board that they paid $3,000 for their home in 1914. The assigned value was increased this year from $1,945 to $4,130. The couple said they were living on a fixed income of $238 a month.

"A fellow works hard all his life to make a home for himself," the 83-year-old Rickman told the board, "and the taxes keep going up and up. A 120 per cent increase seems out of the question.

"You read about workers making $7,000 and $8,000 a year

3 N. County Teen-agers Die as Truck Hits Pole

OLD MODEL truck lies demolished against a utility pole after the vehicle, carrying three North County teen-agers, careened against the pole at a speed estimated at near 90 miles an hour, killing the teen-agers. COLMA TRAGEDY

Speed Thought To Be Near 90

Three North County teen-agers, two boys and a girl, all 16 years old, were killed instantly Monday night when the speeding pickup truck they were in slammed against a utility pole on Old Mission Road in Colma in front of a tombstone company.

The old model truck hit the pole with such force that the motor was torn loose and it hurtled 54 feet through the front door of the L. Bocci Monument works at 7778 Mission. Other parts of the vehicle were scattered over a wide area.

Killed were Frank Damato Jr., 151 East Vista Avenue, Daly City; John Joseph McCarthy, 150 East Vista, and Dolores Ramirez, 555 D Street, Colma.

Colma Police Chief Albert Lagomarsino said later. "Oh God, what a mess. I've seen a lot of bad ones but I've never seen one like this." He estimated the speed of the truck at more than 90 miles an hour.

One body was found lying between two marble lions flanking the entrance of a display area of monument markers. The other two bodies had to be pried loose from the wreckage entangled around the pole.

A witness, Edwin Larry Perimon, 18, of 2120 Francisco Boulevard, Pacifica, told Highway Patrolmen Gary Cameron and Clay Kambic that shortly before 8:45 p.m. he had been parked in front of a used car lot. The pickup truck, with Damato at the wheel, pulled up alongside Perimon's car, and the passenger, McCarthy, noting a "For Sale" sign in the window of the auto, asked Perimon how much he wanted for it.

After they had talked for awhile, Perimon told the officers, both vehicles started up at about the same time. Perimon said he was ahead, going about 35 miles an hour, when the pickup shot past him, doing an estimated 70 or 80. As the truck rounded a slight curve, the witness said, one side seemed to lift off of the roadway and the pickup went into a broadside skid. The officers said the tires left 140 feet of skid marks before the truck "wrapped" itself around the pole, coming to rest on its right side in a horseshoe shape.

The engine flew through the

JESD Mulls 44-Cent Cut In Tax Rate

A 44-cent cut in the tax rate was proposed to trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District Monday night, reversing a previous proposal that the rate be boosted 26 cents to maintain the same program in the district in the 1965-66 year.

The reduction in the tax would be made possible because of an unexpectedly high increase in assessed valuation that has resulted from the reappraisal of property undertaken by County Assessor Ralph Woodman, trustees were told.

Dr. David Shapiro, assistant superintendent in charge of business affairs, told trustees that the district's assessed valuation had been increased by 50.2 per cent instead of a 22.9 per cent figure the board had been using to project its budget for the new school year.

Shapiro said that because of the higher assessment, the district would lose $200,000 in state aid this year.

He also revealed that because of the new assessment, the district would have to call a bond election within a year.

The district now has $1,129,000 outstanding in bonds and as a result of an election in 1961, can sell $1,671,000 more in bonds.

To remain eligible for state aid, however, a district must be bonded up to 5 per cent of its total assessed valuation. Therefore, Shapiro said, the district must sell $1,736,000 worth of bonds, which is $65,000 more than it is now empowered to do.

Fall of 29c In Jeff High Area Is Seen

A cut of 29 cents on the tax rate was proposed Monday night to the board of trustees of the Jefferson Union High School District.

District Supt. Edward Morgan said that an unexpectedly high assessment of property in the district, resulting from the county's reassessment program this year, will enable the district to reduce the rate 29 cents.

Previously, Morgan had reported that the district would attempt to hold the line on the tax rate. The present rate is $2.59 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The new rate, if the 29-cent cut is approved by trustees, would be $2.30.

The board has scheduled special meetings for tonight and Thursday night to consider the budget.

In his presentation of the budget and the proposed tax rate, Morgan recommended that both teachers and classified employes be given a 4 per cent salary boost.

The 4 per cent figure had

Noonan Is Elected to Head JESD

Thomas Noonan was elected chairman of the board of trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District Monday night at the board's annual organizational meeting.

He succeeds O. Wayne Douglas. Noonan had served as chairman before Douglas took the post.

Other officers of the board elected were: Joseph Lewkowitz, vice chairman; Peter Galiano, a new member of the board, clerk, and George Perry, trustee representative.

A long agenda faced the newly elected officers. It was highlighted by a lengthy discussion over a request from the county that the county be allowed to purchase a 244-square foot parcel from the district, located on Park Plaza Drive.

The district was envolved in a bitter battle with the county several years ago over the construction of Park Plaza Drive, which cut through the district's property.

The fight eventually went to court and the school district lost its case. At that time, the county apparently neglected to purchase all the land over which the street was built, trustees were told.

The county now wishes to correct the error and gain title to a small sliver of land. The

D.C. Might Carry Fight On to State

By DON MILLER

Daly City councilmen, pleased with the results of the city's protest against the county's reassessment of property, decided Monday night to study the possibility of following the protest all the way through to the State Board of Equalization.

Councilman Edward Dennis suggested that when the board meets to consider the county's request for a review of the new assessment roll, the city have a representative present.

Fellow councilmen decided to study the proposal.

Earlier, Councilman Albert Polonsky commended City Attorney Paul Hupf for his presentation of Daly City's protest before the Board of Supervisors last week.

The presentation came after the supervisors passed a resolution asking the state board to review the assessment roll with a view to reducing it. Polonsky noted:

C of C Aide Assails New Assessments

A scorching condemnation of County Assessor Ralph E. Woodman by Peter J. Markovich, executive manager of the Daly City Chamber of Commerce and sometime political aspirant, was delivered last week to the County Board of Supervisors.

Markovich labeled Woodman's reassessment program, which has resulted in an over-all 35 per cent increase in the assessed value of property, a "terrible crime" and asserted that it will force many elderly citizens living on limited retirements incomes to sell their homes.

Woodman sat in the audience

18-Cent Tax Cut Proposed In Pacifica

Pacifica may be able to cut the city tax rate 18 cents because close to $400,000 in 1956 sewer bonds have not yet been used and because of increases in property assessments. City Manager Karl A. Baldwin informed City Councilmen last week.

Baldwin told the council that only about $920,000 of a $1,305,000 bond issue passed by voters to improve sewers in 1956 has so far been used.

As a result, he reported, there may be enough funds left to finance both the reconnection of the Sharp Park outfall sewer line and to install a main truck line along Linda Mar Boulevard.

Baldwin recommended that the present $2.10 tax rate be reduced to $1.92 for each $100 of assessed valuation.

He previously had estimated that the tax rate would have to be boosted 14 cents.

SHE FINISHES DESPITE WOES

Powder Puff Flyer Perseveres

DESPITE difficulties with a faulty oxygen system, Daly City's Powder Puff Derby aviatrix, Mrs. Henry Schutt, managed to pilot to the finish line one of the smallest airplanes ever to compete in the derby in the 1965 running of the event last week.

Mrs. Schutt, who lives at 60 Westhaven Drive, finished last in elapsed time on the 2,500 mile course from El Cajon, Calif., to Chattanooga, Tenn., but that she finished at all, in view of her troubles along the way, was considered quite a feat by derby fans.

She flew a Beechcraft Musketeer 23. About 100 women — pilots and co-pilots — competed.

One California woman was forced to crash land her plane in a field when she ran out of gas just short of her scheduled stop. Neither she nor her co-pilot were injured.

MRS. SCHUTT and her co-pilot, Dee Southard of Larkspur, used oxygen masks for the major part of their trip. Just outside Midland, Texas, they had trouble with the system.

At their next stop, they had to wire back to Midland for new oxygen equipment.

Mrs. Schutt said she was also bothered by heat during the race. The temperature in Tucson, Ariz., their first stop, was 110 degrees.

Mrs. Schutt said even with air conditioning in her hotel she was still distressed. She was forced to rest in the basement of the hotel to escape the heat.

EXCEPT FOR the heat, Mrs. Schutt said she enjoyed competing in the derby immensely. She said the Flying Tiger Association and the Supporting 99, both flying associations that acted as hosts and hostesses during the race, were wonderful.

Mrs. Schutt has no plans

New Topless Trial Is Set

Topless swim dancer Gail Ann O'Leary will be tried for indecent exposure again September 29.

North County Judicial District Judge Charles Becker last week scheduled a new trial for Miss O'Leary who was arrested at the Copperwood Lodge in Daly City in May.

Her first trial on charges of indecent exposure and lewd behavior ended in June with a hung jury.

visors saw fit . . . to follow through on our suggesiton to seek a reduction in the assessment roll through the State Board of Equalization.

"I think congratulations should go to other members of the council, citizen groups and others for their support."

He added that he was surprised to find that Daly City was the only municipality in the county to make a presentation on behalf of its citizens.

Councilman Micheal DeBernardi concurred with Polonsky's remarks but added that he was still puzzled by statements made by Assessor Ralph Woodman at the session before the supervisors.

He said that it had been reported that 60 per cent of the county's property had been reappraised now and the other 40 per cent in the past two or three years.

DeBernardi reported he asked the supervisors about this and that when the supervisors in turn asked Woodman, the assessor replied only that he had reassessed all the property in the county.

"This is a very, very bad statement," DeBernardi declared. "It's like talking out of the side of your mouth in two different directions."

The council then directed City Manager Edward Frank to check with County Manager Robert Stallings about the timing of the assessor's appraisal of property.

In other business, the council directed Frank to confer with area State Highway Division officials about the advisability of pressing for freeway landscaping funds.

The action was prompted by a letter from the division, saying that funds would be made available "in some future budget."

Mayor Francis Pacelli said that kind of wording was too vague and wondered if the city shouldn't press for more immediate action.

City Engineer Arthur Reschke, a former employe of the division, commented that funds for freeway beautification are usually included in the division's budget after the freeway has been completed.

In Daly City, funds would be used for landscaping the Junipero Serra Freeway, now under construction.

as the impassioned Markovich told the supervisors:

"I'd be sick if I knew someone had to sell his house and was responsible for it."

"Woodman," Markovich asserted, "is betraying the people who put him in officee. Why should one man have the power to do this? I think it is a terrible crime. It's the most pathetic thing I've ever encountered.

"Ralph Woodman was elected to represent us people. He's suppose to represent the will of the majority. All we're asking is for him to have a little compassion."

Markovich, noting that the county board has no jurisdiction over the assessment roll except to see that no inequities exist, asked the supervisors to "exercise influence" on the assessor and persuade him to establish the roll on a lower formula.

Woodman told the board that all San Mateo County properties are now equalized, for the first time in at least 15 years, on the basis of 25 per cent of true market value.

Markovich asked that the ratio be pegged at the state average, which approximated 22 per cent last year and is expected to drop even more this year.

Board Chairman William M. Werder informed Markovich that the board had, a few hours earlier upon receipt of the assessment roll summary from Woodman, adopted a resolution asking the State Board of Equalization to reduce the roll to the state-wide average.

Markovich replied that he doubted the state board would grant the request.

Amendment To By-Law Voted Down

granting obstetrical and surgical privileges to doctors based upon individual evaluation of their training and experience and after the doctors had demonstrated their competence.

The bylaw, scheduled to go into effect when Mary's Help moves to its new building in Daly City in the fall, will deny the general practitioner or the so-called "family doctor" surgical and obstetrical privileges at the hospital unless he has specialist training.

Doctors now on the staff of Mary's Help will be exempted from the provisions of the measure.

Dr. Robert Gobar of Daly City, author of the amendment, asked to comment on the rejection of his proposal, declared:

"Apparently they don't want general practioners there. They want a speciality hopsital."

The vote represented a substantial shift in sentiment among doctors on the staff.

In December of last year, they had voted 52 to 31 in favor of repealing the bylaw. The vote, however, was four ballots short of the two-thirds count needed to nullify the measure.

"We had quite a shift in votes," Gobar said. "I don't quite understand it.

William Rogers, executive secretary of the California Academy of General Practice, said "the issue is far from dead."

He said that any further move would have to await the opening of the hospital's new building.

The Academy has vigorously opposed the bylaw, contending that it will discourage young men from entering the field of general practice.

Hospital authorities say that it is a provision that will help keep Mary's Help "in the mainstream of providing the best care possible."

The bylaw was adopted in June of last year by a 53-21 vote.

been sought by the district's teacher and employe organizations.

The superintendent also recommended that the district reserve be cut by $122,000 and that no new expenditure be authorized during the year unless it was included in the budget.

He said that the budget, as it now stands, would enable the district to continue its program of "quality education."

In other action, trustees reelected Elio Fontana chairman and James Cooper vice chairman. Also named were Lyal Ingersol, clerk, and Cooper, trustee representative.

Two new members were welcomed to the board—Ray Milton and Edward Solomon. They were elected to their posts last spring.

Lloyd O. Anderson of the California Highway Patrol said her truck veered into the northbound lane on an S-curve and struck a northbound car. She was thrown from the vehicle and died of head injuries.

The driver of the other car, Walter J. Landreth, 51, of Santa Cruz, an antique dealer, suffered arm and leg injuries. He was admitted to Peninsula Hospital.

A passenger in his car, Mary J. Gray, 31, of 1112 Valencia Way, Pacifica, suffered leg and head injuries when she was thrown through the windshield of the auto. She was treated at Peninsula Hospital and then transferred to County General Hospital.

Landreth told Patrolman Anderson that he saw Mrs. Herbert's truck coming around the curve and that he went as far as possible onto the shoulder of the road in an effort to avoid the vehicle.

Mrs. Herbert was found lying on the ground with her feet still in the cab of the truck.

The patrolman estimated the speed of the truck at 50 miles an hour. Some pennies were spilled from the vehicle, he said. The commissary items were found intact.

Mrs. Herbert's husband, George, is a volunteer fireman in Pacifica and is employed by a San Francisco electrical firm. Mrs. Herbert was the mother of three children.

Young Damato was thrown out, the officers said, but the other two occupants were crushed inside the wreckage. It was necessary, the patrolmen reported, to stand the truck on its wheels and pull the wreckage apart to get the victims out.

All were dead on arrival at Peninsula Hospital.

Patrol Sgt. Roy Edwards said there have been many accidents at that location.

"I'll bet I've investigated 50 accidents where cars have hit that pole," he said.

Frank Damato was a junior at Jefferson High School. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Damato and three brothers, Michael, Ralph and Danny. He was a star swimmer on the Jefferson school team and had set numerous records.

McCarthy was a junior at Jefferson high and is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McCarthy and a sister, Linda.

Dolores Ramirez is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Ramirez and 10 brothers and sisters. She also was a Jefferson student.

The two boys were taking the girl home when the crash occurred, investigators said.

has jumped $14.5-million as a result of the county's reassessment program. The new total is $44-million.

City fathers previously had indicated they would try to offset the higher assessments with a lower tax provided the city's financial needs could be met by doing so.

Meeting in study session with members of the Park, Beach and Recreation commission the council last week reviewed plans for an enlarged park and recreation program during the coming year.

Recreation Supt. Eldred Lokker outlined plans to add two employes to trim trees and maintain parks and to increase the number of part-time playground employes during summer months.

It is also planned to begin a year-around supervised playground program for the first time.

Although the recreation budget is actually well above last year's, the actual expense to the city will be less because of financial contributions made by Doelger Enterprises when the Fairmont development was approved by the city.

Another application is from Henry Doelger Builder, Inc., for approval of plans for the Fairmont Shopping Center, to be located at the northeast corner of Hickey Boulevard and Gateway Drive.

The council also will continue a public hearing on the city's proposed underground utilities ordinance, which was held over from June 9.

The Beach Development Committee's plan for development of Pacifica's shoreline has brought numerous responses from residents.

Among letters being presented tonight will be one from Mrs. Marguerite Washington, who says her own development plans conflict with the committee's plan.

Among other letters to be considered by the council is a notification from the State Division of Highways, denying the city's request for reconstruction of newly completed facilities at Monterey Road to provide a bus stop and northbound off-ramps.

The letter from R. A. Hayler, deputy district engineer, states that the city's plans would require removal of recently constructed retaining walls, frontage roads, channelization and ramps. He states:

"The cost of removing and replacing existing facilities and adding the proposed improvements would far outweigh the advantages to be gained."

Also on the agenda are:

A letter from the Westview Improvement Club concerning sewer service charges; a letter from Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Company, concerning auditing services for the city for the fiscal year 1965, and a report on proposed repair of the fallen Sharp Park sewage outfall line.

"I believe the real estate men are behind this whole business."

Rickman explained that he has been receiving in the mail many offers from real estate men to buy his property.

"But it's my house and I'm going to live there the rest of my life," he told the board.

The next protestor, Leland Miller of 55 Parkwood Drive, Daly City, who had heard the results of the two preceding hearings, started out this way:

"I think we're wasting each other's time. The appraisal is all you are concerned with and all the people are concerned with is taxes.

"A 91 per cent increase is too much in one year. I think the assessor's office was negligent in allowing this condition to exist."

THREE NORTH County men have been appointed to the Human Resources Commission, a key unit in the county's War on Poverty program. They are: Superintendent Edward Morgan of the Jefferson High School District; Robert Wong of 2900 Geneva Avenue, Daly City, and the Rev. Vernon Alexander of Pacifica, pastor of Pedro Valley Presbyterian Church.

DALY CITY Councilman Bernard Lycett, chairman of the Scenic Highways Subcommittee of the Regional Planning Committee of San Mateo County, will present a progress report when the RPC meets at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the supervisors' chambers in the Hall of Justice in Redwood City.

SUSANN BERNARD, Miss Daly City of 1965, was a guest at the Highlands Inn on the Carmel Highlands for three days this week.

The city's reigning queen won a three-day all-expense-paid trip to the resort as a result of winning the Miss Daly City title. She flew to Carmel on United Airlines Monday.

CONSTRUCTION of the Junipero Serra Freeway in Daly City has passed the halfway mark, according to the State Division of Highways. The route should be opened to traffic in the summer of next year, the division said.

Bids for the extension of this portion of the freeway south from Eastmoor Avenue in Daly City to Arroyo Drive in South San Francisco will be advertised this summer.

THE DALY CITY Post Office is participating in President Johnson's Natural Beauty Program, according to Postmaster Vincent P. Murphy.

Grounds of the Post Office's four buildings will be spruced up, Murphy said.

PATROLMAN Bert Hunter of the Daly City Police Department has resigned to take a job as a salesman. He had been with the department for two and a half years.

Previously, he had been a Napa policeman and a guard at San Quentin Prison.

Deaths

ANGELO PISTONE

Funeral services were held last week from Nauman and Lincoln Chapel for Angelo Pistone, 72, 619 Miller Avenue, South San Francisco, who died at his home on July 4.

Survivors include his wife Tine; three daughters, Donna Pistone and Mrs. Rita Huntsman, South San Francisco, and Mrs. Nilda Del Bianco, Pacifica, and three sons, Henry and Silvio Pistone, South San Francisco, and Frank Pistone, Malibu.

A requiem mass was celebrated at Mater Dolorosa Church. Entombment was in Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma.

ANNA MANETAS

Mrs. Anna Manetas, 74, 243 Rio Verde, Daly City, died last Tuesday at County General Hospital. She was a native of the Azores. Surviving is a son, Manuel Silva, of Sonoma.

ANNE HOWELL

Mrs. Anne E. Howell, 59, 352 Monterey Avenue, Pacifica, a resident of the Peninsula for 15 years, died Thursday at a Redwood City hospital after a long illness. She was a native of Hepner, Ore.

Survivors include her husband, Glen, Pacifica; two sisters, Mrs. Marjorie Smith, Hepner, and Mrs. Mae Pharron, Milton-Freewater, Ore., and a brother, Louis Bradley, Hepner.

She was a member of Printing Specialists' Union Local 362, San Francisco.

Funeral services were held Monday from Nauman and Lincoln Chapel by the Sea, Pacifica. Interment was in Olivet Memorial Park, Colma.

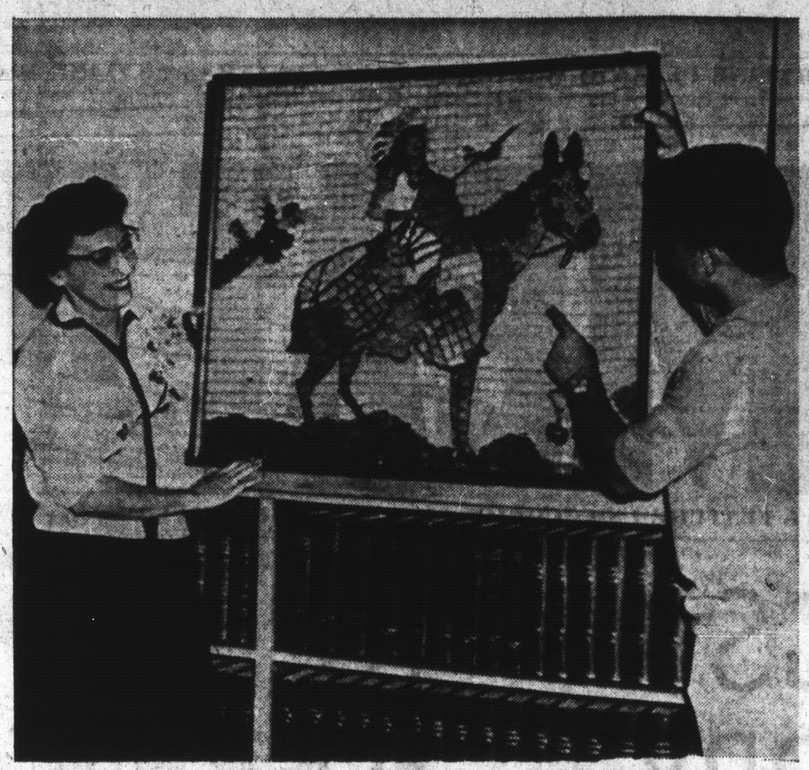
D.C. Man Is New Juror

A Daly City resident has taken a seat on the County Grand Jury to replace a juror who resigned because of a job transfer.

Thomas Stanghellini of 210 San Fernando Way, Daly City, owner and operator of a food market, was to be sworn in Monday.

He replaces Webb L. Witmer, former mayor of Millbrae. Witmer was county representative of the Kaiser health insurance plan and has been transferred to a similar position in Sacramento.

A Reminder of the Past



ADMIRING a new mosaic on display at the Westlake branch of the Daly City library are Mrs. Maxine Gates, library assistant and Larry Karp, a library page. The mosaic, depicting an Indian chief who once roamed the north county area, was presented to Daly City by its creator. It will become a part of an historical library being planned by the city.

D.C. History Library Gets Mosaic Gift

A mosaic of an Indian chief who long ago roamed the San Francisco Peninsula has been presented to Daly City by its creator, Mrs. Helen Geddes of 386 C Street, South San Francisco.

The mosaic pictures the chief in full dress astride a faithful steed. The chief wears a buckskin shirt, blue trousers and a war bonnet containing white feathers.

The horse is gray with a dark mane and a dark tail. The background is a blue sky with white clouds. Further color is added by the brown earth covered with red and light blue flowers.

The mosaic is on display in the Westlake branch of the Daly City Library. It will be transferred later to a historical collection, according to City Librarian Samuel Chandler, consisting of a history of Colma and a chronology of Holy Angels Church by Mrs. Teresa Alteri and a record of changes in Daly City government by Henry Sunderman Sr.

Chandler said these additions have been copied and are being bound. Other gifts from Arthur Bodien, William Sweeny Sr., Mrs. Trixie Beeson, Mrs. Jean O'Rourke, Edmund Cavagnaro, Mrs. Andrew Hanselman, Mrs. Florence Stockton, Jack Fields, and Mrs. Ann Eason are being prepared.

Councilman Bernard Lycett, chairman of the Daly City Historical Committee, has issued a call for donations of early Daly City and North County memorabilia.

Drive-in Is Approved For S.S.F.

In a prolonged session last week, South San Francisco's City Council approved a drive-in theatre at the rear of a lumber yard in the industrial part of the city.

Councilmen also approved a 94-foot tall theme-setting tower on the Cabot, Cabot & Forbes Industrial Park, and passed a resolution of intention to extend Chestnut Avenue from Orange Avenue to Hillside.

The meeting was of record length, lasting until midnight. The Council normally speeds through an average evening in less than one hour.

More than a dozen people, including three attorneys, spoke in a two-hour discussion of the drive-in, which was approved by the city's planning commission last month.

According to the plans, the theatre will be built at the easterly side of the South City Lumber Company, between a spur railroad line and Colma Creek.

The projection screen will be built next to the lumber yard buildings, thereby decreasing the effect of its height.

South San Francisco planners have commented that the theatre will be an improvement of the property, which now is occupied by a helter-skelter of semi-abandoned construction company buildings.

Attorneys for El Rancho Drive-in, on Hickey Boulevard near Junipero Serra, explained, however, that the city's M-1 industrial zoning code does not list theatres among the permitted uses.

Others, including citizens whose homes will face the theatre across Railroad Avenue, complained of the probable noise and traffic nuisances that may be created by the drive-in.

Parts of Jet Wing, Engine Being Sought

Parts of an engine and wing of the Boeing 707 jet airliner that limped in to a safe landing at Travis Air Force Base June 28 are still missing.

The main part of the fragment dropped on South San Francisco and the engine on San Bruno.

Residents of San Bruno, South San Francisco, Daly City and Colma were asked last week to search for the missing pieces.

They are necessary to reconstruct the damaged plane so the cause of the accident can be determined, Civil Aeronautics Board air safety director Jack Carroll announced.

As the likeliest places to look, Carroll suggested rooftops, parks, and the Colma cemeteries.

Persons finding fragments were asked to call the CAB office in Oakland.

By LE PACINI

THOUGH WRESTLING is usually something a sport a columnist saves for the dead season, we somehow sense that it's about time for our annual defense of professional wrestling and its fans.

Anyone insensitive enough to ridicule that arm of entertainment with cries of "fake" and the people who pay to watch it as suckers, would also, following the same line of reasoning, be compelled to charge, say, Sam Goldwyn with collusion because John Wayne's never lost and moviegoers with aid and comfort.

If it's within the realm of dignity to cheer the hero and hiss the villain in "The Drunkard," why should it not be so at wrestling matches?

Professional wrestling has, indeed, changed since guys like Jim Londos and Strangler Lewis retired. But, like any other form of entertainment, whether it be a staged murder mystery or a sport whose outcome is not pre-determined, wrestling still—for some people—serves the purpose of escape; it can induce a sort of hypnosis on the spectator.

The mild-mannered little guy can, for a few minutes at least, transfer to the body of an All-American boy and swat the heck out of that big, ugly milkman who winked at his wife last week.

Wrestling fans aren't kooks and they aren't stupid. The same guy who yells himself hoarse from threatening a continual stream of dirty-fighting villains all night will tell you, if you ask him, that, of course it's a fake.

And did you weep, just a little, when Ingrid Bergman had to leave a dying Gary Cooper to fight off the bad guys, even though you knew that they were acting and they probably all sat down together over beers after the shooting?

ALL OF WHICH reminds us of baseball fights, which usually draw as much blood as a typical professional wrestling match.

Baseball players—like kids in a school yard—are great ones for making threatening gestures, which are always made when it's first definitely ascertained by the principals that there's someone in the vicinity to break it up should anyone really be foolhardy enough to start throwing punches.

One of the last legitimate baseball fights we remember we watched—or should we say, cowered—from a player's bench and it involved, at least indirectly, a Pacifica resident.

We were one of three sophomores who made our high school's varsity baseball team with the privilege of viewing all games from the far end of the bench. The other two were Art Lillis who now, we believe, is a San Francisco electrician, and Bill Slack, currently a telephone company supervisor from Pacifica.

One day we were playing our most hated rival and needed a run real bad. So one of our guys obliged by practically cutting the chest protector off the catcher (Bob Roselli, who later played for the Milwaukee Braves) on a close play at home. He scored, but was almost instantly engulfed by vengeful persons from the other team.

That's when our bench started emptying, just like you see on television, and there we were, your writer and Art and Bill at the end of the bench. Bill was a fiery Tennessee lad and immediately sized up the situation as a real opportunity to get into some action.

"Come on you guys," he said with motions like a cavalry officer signaling a charge, "let's go."

The kind of action I had in mind, however, was maybe something like pinch-running in the seventh inning, while Art—who probably could have licked the entire enemy bench single-handedly—declined on moral grounds.

"That stupid . . . got into it on his own," said Art, "let him get out of it the same way. I got nothing against Roselli."

And those were possibly the most sensible words I ever heard uttered on the subject of baseball fights.

Oh, yes, Bill acquitted himself quite ably. In fact, he helped to break the thing up and nobody—as usual—was seriously injured despite a goodly number of legitimately thrown punches. Neither team was hitting the ball so you couldn't expect anybody to hit other moving targets—especially when they were hitting back.

Incidentally, Bill's brother, Ken, is a Pacifica realtor (or was the last time we looked) and he was a rough boy, himself. He went out for high school football at 135 pounds in his senior year and used to make tackles—when he couldn't move opposition linemen—by scrambling between their legs.

LOCAL NOTES: Two teams in the Saturday "Big Rec" league are coached by Daly City men. Terra Nova baseball Coach Al Figone is handling Fisher Realty while another former pro, Lloyd Dickey (S.F. Seals, San Diego) is managing Flying Goose 2. It's good baseball, it's free, and it's an excuse for a day at Golden Gate Park. Try it sometime.

It's entirely feasible that a pair of Daly City boys could some day be fighting it out for the Giants' third base spot. They're Westmoor's Bruce Hix (currently hitting around .300 for the class A Decatur club), and Alan Galagher, number one Giants' draft choice now assigned to Tacoma in the class AAA Pacific Coast League . . .

MORE BASEBALL: We hate to say we-told-you-so, but someone who's wrong as often as we are has to crow sometime. Alvin Dark's conception of baseball's greatest shortstop, Jose Pagan, is back in the minors. We said last year that all the Giants had to do to improve was get rid of Dark and Pagan, and, considering bad breaks and injuries, they've done just that.

One of the big rumors last week was a Willie McCovey for Ed Kranepool trade, which wouldn't have made sense for either team.

Now the Cardinals know what it's like to have injuries. They won their pennant last year because all key men played virtually every inning of every game, which ain't happenin' this year.

Our nomination for the four most classic batting stances in baseball history: Mel Ott (front-foot lift), Stan Musial (corkscrew), Jimmy Fox (foot-in-the-bucket), Joe DiMaggio (extra-very-wide). None of which, ironically, you could conscientiously recommend to a Little Leaguer.

Bases-Loaded Triple Gains All-Star Win

Here is a roundup of action in all-star games sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department.

The Southern Division All-Stars won a thriller game from the BYA Bender Roofing Renegades 13 to 12 at Westmoor Park.

The winning pitcher, Tony LaRocca, was aided by fine relief pitching from John Zidich.

Ron Beltramo won the game for the All-Stars when he hit a triple with the bases loaded in the last inning.

Don Thuener started the game for the Renegades and pitched six innings, racking up six strikeouts. He was relieved by Gavin Long who went the rest of the way and turned out to be the losing pitcher.

Jade Racelo collected five RBI's for the losers.

The P.A.L. Eagles, down by six runs at one time, rallied in the fifth and sixth innings to down the Junior League All-Stars, 7 to 6, in a nine-inning ball game.

Karl Campas pitched two-hit ball over the last five innings, while striking out five to receive the win.

Abe Shaffer pitched shut-out ball for the first four innings, striking out four for the All-Stars.

Blakes Bulldogs blanked the Eastern Division All-Stars, 6 to 0.

Scott Alves allowed three runs on six hits and gave up three walks in leading the All-Stars to a 13-3 win over the BYA Rams. Hitting well for the All-Stars were Dave Stein, two for five, including a triple and a double; Scott Alves, three for four, and Mark Fillmore, two for four.

The Rams made four errors.

Clifford Wong and Kevin Bouey combined pitching talents to defeat the PAL Cubs, 7 to 4. The pair allowed four hits and three walks.

Timely hitting by shortstop Doug Vega in the fifth and sixth innings spelled defeat for the Cubs. Charley Keohone and Sam Castillo sparked the defense.

Hitting well for the losers were John Mendoza, Al Lieske and Ron Mosley.

The Northern Division All-Stars and the BYA Toy Village Midgets reached a standoff in their contest. David Mibelli collected two singles in five trips to the plate for the All-Stars.

Indians Win 11th; Near Loop Title

The Pal Indians downed Hunts Donuts, 5-2, to run their league-leading record to 11-4 in the Northern Division of the Midget Baseball League, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department.

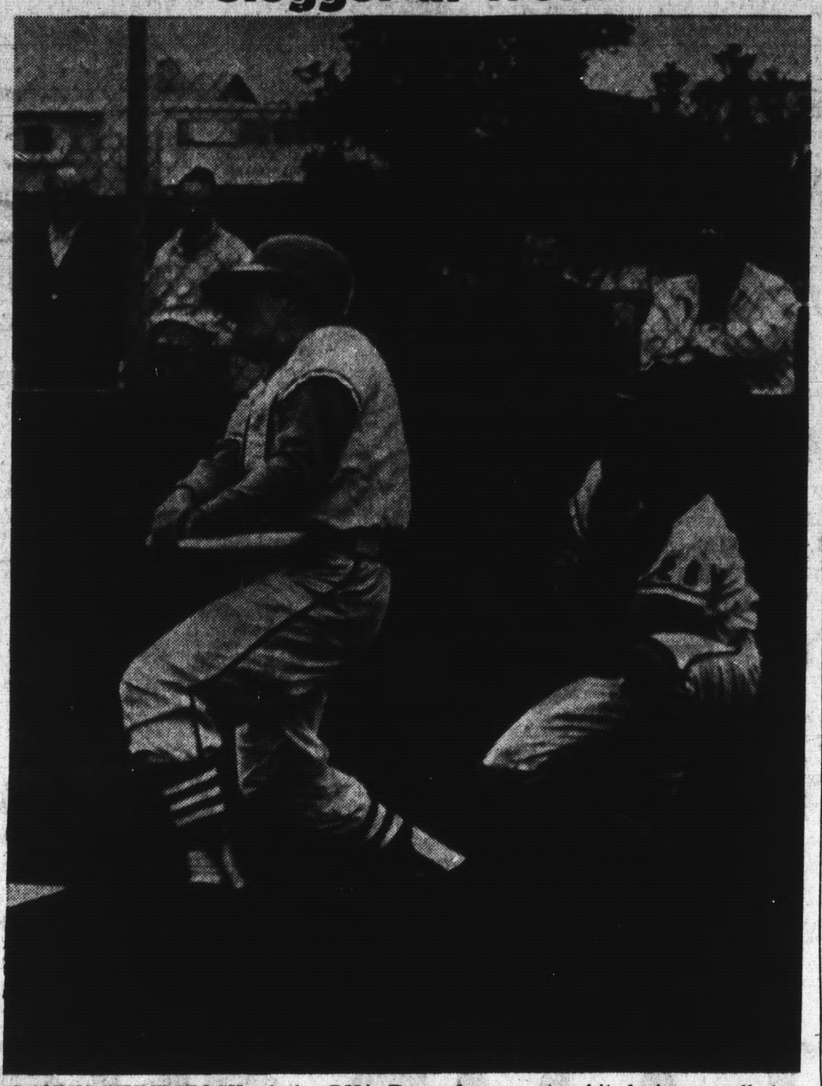
In other games, the OLM Wolves nipped the PAL Cubs, 1-0, in 11 innings. Smokey Morton and Dave Ewing combined to shutout the Cubs. Morton pitched the first nine innings.

In another game, Toy Village overwhelmed the PAL Tigers, 20-1. Zane Wilbur pitched one-hit ball for the winners.

Slugger at Work



DANNY MUNDSTOCK of the BYA Rams bangs out a hit during an all-star game sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department. The catcher is Dave Stein of the American Division All-Stars. The All-Stars won, 13-3, behind the six-hit pitching of Scott Alves. He also picked up three hits in four trips to the plate. (Post-Times Photo)

Adult Lob Ball League Start Is Foggy Affair

The Daly City Department of Recreation's Adult Lob Ball League got off the ground last week and almost got lost in the fog.

In the Under 25 Division, the Red Mountain Boys met the Daly City Sweatbox and the Mission DeMolays met the Daly City Playboys to open the season at Thomas Edison Field.

As the games started, a dense fog settled on the field. It became a case of who could find the ball first.

The Red Mountain Boys adapted to the situation faster than the Sweatsox, defeating them 41-17.

The "golden arm" of Mike Orlich carried the DeMolays to a 40-17 win over the Playboys.

The next night, the Daly City Post Office stamped the Animals in a hotly contested ballgame.

The Over 25 Division saw closer ball games: Velo A.C. defeated the G-E Water Coolers, 12-9, and Chick's No Stars battled to a 5-4 win over the Daly City Drugs.

Sign Ups for League Set

Registration is underway for the High School Lob Ball League, sponsored by the Daly City Department of Recreation.

The department is encouraging clubs, church groups and other community organizations to enter a team. The fee is 50 cents per team.

Divits Lead High School Cage League

As play in the Daly City Recreation Department's Summer High School Basketball League finished off the second week's play, the Divits, with a 2-0 record have swept into th league's top position.

The last slate of games saw the Castoffs coast past the Hawks, 50-33, the Divits nip the Pomona Casuals, 56-31, the Cuperic Sulfates II take the Hustlers, 49-41, and the 007's win their game against the Mercians by forfeiture.

Larry Baker scored 19 points to pace the Divits to their win. Baker leads the league after two games with a 29-point game average.

The Castoffs' victory was led by Ray Chiappari's 20 points. In the Cuperic Sulfates II—Hustler game, the Sulfates trailed at half time, 23-21, but scoring by John Prince and Joel Weinberg boosted the Sulfates to victory.

A new innovation in South San Francisco Park and Recreation Department has been created with a high school age baseball league for summer play organized by North Peninsula League coaches Bob Brian and Harry Pitkoff.

The league is composed of four teams and plays on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 5:30 p.m. for six weeks. Each team in the league will play a 12-game schedule at three parks, Alta Loma, El Camino and Orange Park.

The South San Francisco High School players will play on the teams sponsored by the Bernard McCaffrey American Legion Post and Borba Manufacturing Company.

A Week in Review in Recreation

Here ils a roundup of activities in the summer program of the Daly City Recreation Department:

Each show was judged for originality of story and presentation. The winners were:

Westlake School — Mike Lee and Bobby Hutchins; Jefferson —Elsie, Mike and Ed Boyd; Woodrow Wilson—George Steele, Danny and Dave Castrillo, and Dennis Lufrano.

Vista Grande—Sheree Martin, Debra Ruggero, and Janet Gregory; Colma — Kevin O'Shea, Frank Carney and Pete Woolery

The next phase of dramatics offered at the playgrounds will be pantomime.

ADVENTURE CLUB

With all of the results counted, The Adventure Club's Straight Arrow Day winners for the week are in. Every contestant had five shots with a possible high score of 125 total points.

The target proved much harder to hit than most youngsters had thought it would be. First place winners are: Daniel Webster — Steve Bogart with 20 points; M. Pauline Brown—Joey Rodriguez with 35 points; Westlake Park—Lee Trobock with 40 points; Franklin Roosevelt—Don Thuener with a whopping score of 85 points; Westmoor—Gene Hutchinson with 65 points, and George Washington — Ricardo Melara with 50 points.

On the final day, Marchbanks' Cris Caldwell hit for 40 points. Colma School's Pete Woolery hit 60 points to end the week's event. Coming Adventure Club events include bike rides, out door cookouts and mountain men contests.

CREATIVE DANCE

Creative Dance classes are working hard on their dances for a performance Thursday, July 22, in the Westmoor High School Gym.

The evening's program will include all of the creative dance classes taught by Mrs. Sandra Dungan. All parents and friends of students are invited.

An advanced class is working on a dance with a serious theme.

The students in this class, Leigh Ward, Diana Welsh, Lynn Norton, Marie Bell Alcazar, Betsy Hallford, Patty Putman, Rosie Davenport, Nina Berglund and Karen and Robyn Stuhr, are working with their instructor in the choreography of a dance around the theme of women in an Irish fishing village.

The women are waiting for their husbands and sons to return from sea and are sad until they see the boats coming in.

Art—the Chinese Way

AUDREY LUM, fourth grade teacher at George Washington School in Daly City and James Liu from Formosa look over an example of Chinese art. Liu and C. C. Wang, also of Formosa, gave a lecture-demonstration in Chinese art and writing and brush painting to children at the school last semester. The program was sparked by a previous demonstration program Miss Lum gave at the school in February. (Post-Times Photo)

Productions Are Added to Drama Slate

Here is a roundup of recreation activities for Daly City teen-agers, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Department:

TEEN DRAMA WORKSHOP

Because of the large increase in enrollment for the Teen Drama Workshop, two more productions have been added to the agenda.

In addition to "Mr. Dandyweather's Birthday" and "The Princess and the Pea," Director David Regal has announced that a short comedy, "Silly-Fred—The Hero" and a short fantasy will be added.

The two added productions will be presented for playground groups.

CREATIVE DANCE

This week, students in the creative dance classes are beginning to work on their own dances, which they will do to music.

These will be developed into pieces to be performed in a demonstration at the end of this month. Students also are working on dance exercises and combinations that they will perform in the demonstration. Openings exist in these following classes: Lincoln Park, 11:45 a.m. Mondays and Wednesdays; Westlake Park, 3:15 p.m. Mondays and Wednesdays, and Westmoor Park, 3:15 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays.

COMMENT

The Debacle In Sacramento

SOME OF California's legislators have now gone home with the apparent assumption that the recent sessions fully achieved their legislative functions. They seem to have left the sacred precincts of Sacramento with some notion that they turned in a creditable performance. A few have not been reluctant about patting themselves on the back.

It is too bad that there are no statistics like those used in baseball to rate legislative performance—we have a feeling that the California "club" would have wound up in sub-cellar position.

The ending of the regular session was a legislative debacle. It wound up with a state budget $100,000,000 out of balance and with a complete failure in a matter vital to the legislature itself, a court order for the reapportionment of the Senate. There were plenty of other loose ends.

By forcing a special session the governor managed to get a makeshift balancing of the budget, but the reapportionment is now up to the courts.

The problem of tax reform was artfully dodged.

TO BE FAIR, political differences can materially affect the quality of performances by any legislative body. But when such differences break down the performance to the point we have just witnessed, it is hard for us to defend the efficiency of our representative form of government to those who criticize it.

We know that it will work because it always has, despite the failures and the ineptitudes. But bad examples stand out like the proverbial sore thumb.

In the end, the reflection is on the legislature itself and not upon the system or the people who rely upon it for an enlightened form of government.

However frustrating the difficulties may have been this year, we will continue to believe that the legislature could have, and should have, done a better job on the fundamental functions of government with which they are trusted.

Ready for the Tourists

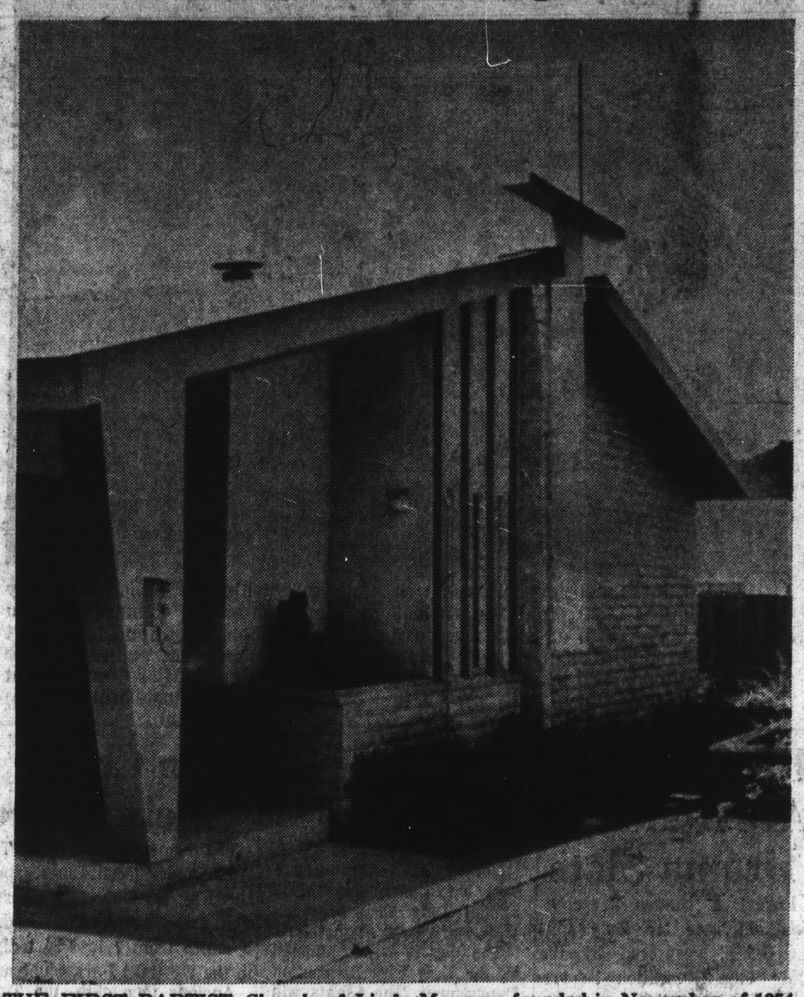
VACATION DAYS are here again, with a vengeance, and Americans are taking to the highways in increasing numbers in the weeks ahead. For many, who will return to their favorite resorts or seek new scenes, it will be a season of surprises—and not all happy ones.

Gasoline and sales taxes have been boosted by many states to cash in on tourism. Food costs will not be lower than last year (when they were the highest in history), while nothing short of competition can keep motel and hotel rates from rising to new all-time record highs.

The tourist has become big business throughout the nation. He takes to the road expecting to be exploited in various ways.

And next summer he will do it over again, seeking relief from the daily routine, regardless of the fact he may be uncomfortable in doing so.

Linda Mar First Baptist



THE FIRST BAPTIST Church of Linda Mar was founded in November of 1954 and, in its early stages, met in the garage of its first pastor, the Rev. Ivan Estes. The congregation later met in a building situated at the site of the present Cabrillo School. When the school was built, First Baptist moved to a new sanctuary (pictured above) at 1450 Perez Drive. The old structure is now the Oddstad Park Community Center. The Rev. Gene Davis has been pastor of the church since November of 1963. He succeeded Reverend Estes. Church membership totals about 100. Pacific Parade

Lazing on the Azure Coast

Don Miller

NEWPORT BEACH—"Temperatures along the Azure Coast will be in the high seventies," the disc jockey says with a note of bravado clearly discernible in his voice. "And it will be fair."

That Azure Coast bit gets to you as you drive along the Pacific Coast Highway south from Los Angeles. The dictionary defines azure as "of or like the color of a clear sky."

But that stuff out there lying off the coast doesn't look very azure to you. More like the half-fog, half-something that settles along the North County coast at times.

No matter, however. To the radio announcer and to the millions who live down this way, Southern California's coast IS azure and more than that, it is their South Pacific paradise.

This is clearly evident during the summer when great multitudes of Los Angeles, Orange and San Diego County folk leave the smog-covered inland areas and settle on the vast, seemingly endless beaches that mark the 125-mile coastline stretching south from Los Angeles to the Mexican border.

THESE ARE beaches for swimming as well as for sunning, unlike the mostly cold and wind-swept coastline up north, and if you're one of those surfer types or just like to battle the breakers without fending off ice floes in the process, the Azure Coast is your beach Valhalla.

On a holiday weekend, the exodus from the interior trebles and quadruples and the Coast Highway is all but engulfed by the motoring machine that to the Southern Californian, even more than to his brethren up north, is an absolute necessity of life.

To accommodate this auto tidal wave, many of the beaches are flanked by some of the longest parking lots you'll see around these days. This is particularly true in Huntington Beach, just north of here, where the entire western side of the Coast Highway is one, continuous parking lot.

BECAUSE THEY are on the ocean and because the climate is so favorable so much of the time, many of the communities that dot the Azure Coast have acquired an almost Riviera quality—that combination of relaxed informality and carefree living that must seem a paradox to Southern California—growing as it is at a frantic pace with all the attendant pains and tensions that accompany a fast-growing area.

Whether it be in Huntington Beach, here in Newport Beach, in Laguna Beach, San Clemente or in the cluster of delightful seaside towns that hug the coast just north of San Diego, the accent is most assuredly on informality.

Ties and starched shirts draw disapproving glances and if you wear this sort of garb to most eating places down here, the natives immediately stamp you as one of those northern types.

The uniform of the day on the Azure Coast seems to be swim suits, Bermuda shorts, sport shirts, bikinis, canvas-type shoes or no shoes. For the surfers, it's mostly a case of no shoes.

ANOTHER hallmark of this area is the extremely healthy appearance of its youth. The gals and the guys almost without exception sport the kind of tans you see on those billboards advertising sun lotions.

The boys are still going the blond hair route, a rage that started in Southern California a few years back, only now the in thing seems to be to set new records in length of said hair.

The girls have followed suit (or maybe it was vice versa) and the tresses on the Azure Coast flow far over bronzed shoulders and down bronzed backsides.

Since this is outdoor living of the tropical paradise variety, much of the eating is out-of-doors — on restaurant decks that overlook the Pacific, on cobblestoned patios, on the broad beaches.

Barbecuing is so much in evidence as the cocktail hour advances that as you drive along the highway through some of the towns, it is as if you're motoring right through the world's largest open air kitchen.

ALTHOUGH WE wouldn't exactly boycott any of the Azure Coast's communities, we've always been partial to Newport Beach, a nautical center that has few, if any peers in the realm of pleasure boating.

This sailing-orientated resort is blessed with a series of waterways that wind in and around a melange of luxuriously appointed homes, shops and restaurants.

Bobbing on the waterways and moored to such immaculately kept piers that you could lay out a silver service upon them and not be apprehensive about it are hundreds of craft of all types and sizes.

In fact, as you look down some of the waterways, the masts of the sailboats appear as a great forest of trees would look in the autumn of the year when the leaves have taken their leave.

The sailing buff is everywhere—carrying sail bags, talking of the turn around the wrong buoy in last weekend's race, swapping yarns about where the sailing is the best, comparing notes on equipment and so on, ad infinitum.

On any weekend, a visitor here will see the main channel absolutely white with sail. The waterway is so overwhelmed with dacron and cotton, verily, that it makes congestion on freeways seem inconsequential in comparison.

However, that's the sort of nautical congestion we'll put up with any day. For, after all, who ever heard of hacking over carbon monoxide from a mainsail?

Better Business

Drapery Buying, Care Discussed

Lorene Beasley

THE DRY CLEANING of draperies and curtains is one of the most expensive items appearing on the housewife's budget. It is a great tragedy when she decides to upset her budget by having her drapes or curtains cleaned and they are returned to her in a badly torn or faded condition!

Her immediate reaction is to violently blame the cleaner and to demand replacement or a satisfactory adjustment.

Doesn't the cleaner carry insurance for just such cases? Not always so. Contrary to popular belief, few dry cleaners are protected by insurance for damage to garments while in the cleaning process because of extremely high insurance.

The retail merchant cannot always guarantee draperies and curtain material against their "invisible enemies," namely, sunlight and atmospheric damage.

The cleaner cannot always determine the result of his dry cleaning process, no matter how careful and expert he may be.

THE MOST COMMON complaint handled by Better Business Bureaus concerns curtains and draperies.

It is very hard to convince an upset housewife that the draperies and curtains that she bought "in perfect condition" for cleaning actually were so deteriorated that the agitation necessary to remove the accumulated soil snapped the already weakened fibers, causing the material to literally fall to pieces.

Often yellow streaks are noticeable after the soil has been removed from the curtains or drapes by the dry cleaning process.

These streaks, which dry cleaning will not correct, are more prevalent in the folds exposed to the direct sunlight. Fabric weakness is usually found in the faded areas.

A folder recently published by the Better Business Bureau of Greater Milwaukee, and available at your local Bureau, explains why the dry cleaner frequently is not at fault and gives the principle causes of drapery failure.

THE CONSUMER should first exercise care in the selection of drapery material. Shop for quality merchandise. A great variety of drapery fabrics and materials are available for today's shopper.

Most of the materials are intended to give long, satisfactory service but, like many articles created to attract and not to give service, there are many materials on the market of questionable durability.

The consumer should keep in mind the amount of sunlight the drapes will be exposed to and should buy suitable fabrics for the individual home.

Constant exposure to the bright rays of the sun will damage the strength of most material fibers. Indirect sunlight will cause a less degree of damage. Lined draperies resist sun damage better than the unlined draperies.

BUY ONLY dyed fabrics that are sun resistant. The description of a fabric as "sunfast" is generally inaccurate as no material is completey resistant to sun damage.

Colors most frequently affected by sun are yellow, red and chartreuse. When just one color of a printed fabric is adversely affected, it is probably the result of the chemical action of sunlight on certain dyes.

Plan to rotate curtains and draperies from predominately sunny windows to shady spots to equalize the effects of sunlight.

Loosely woven fabrics are affected by humidity changes. The amount of humidity in the air can cause draperies to shrink or stretch. Up to four per cent shrinkage can be expected unless the fabric has been completely pre-shrunk.

It is poor economy to line quality drapery material with an inferior lining that will usually shrink and deteriorate long before the drapery itself.

CONDENSATION on windows and rain will frequently cause drapery fabrics to become water marked. The resultant stains are many times not noticed until the curtain has been cleaned. In most instances, these stains are impossible to remove.

Fumes from chimneys, furnaces and cooking contain a certain chemical that clings to curtains and draperies.

When this chemical is combined with humidity and oxygen in the air, a mild acid forms that contributes to the discoloration and deterioration of the fabric.

Gas and fumes also often react upon certain dyes in fabrics containing acetate and generally will cause a reddish color on materials. Blues, greens and colors containing the blue dyes are the most susceptible to this form of damage.

GOOD WORKMANSHIP in the construction of draperies is as important as the quality of the fabric itself. Inform your laundry or dry cleaner if your fabrics contain glass yarns as such materials require special handling.

The 'King' Is Suave

Barbara Bladen

RICARDO MONTALBAN who suavely corrected my pronunciation of his name to accenting the "tal" in the middle is an enthusiastic actor to interview. His personality offstage is not so different from the bombastic King of Siam in "The King and I" which is half way through its Civic Light Opera run at the Curran Theatre.

An expressive Latin, he takes his career very seriously and contends that "the only honesty an actor has toward his profession is to try to improve." He claims that his profession reflects his dignity as a man and "is the livelihood of my family. I try to be selective in choosing my roles, but when there are bills to pay it means working all the time."

Born in Mexico City where his father, a dry goods merchant had migrated from Spain, Ricardo was sent to live with his brother Carlos in Los Angeles where he went to school. He paid particular attention to improving his English diction and participated in a play at Fairfax High School where he was spotted by a talent scout.

FOLLOWING several seasons in summer stock, he appeared in "Our Bettors" with Elsa Maxwell and was again seen by a talent scout. This time his ill mother called him home to Mexico and there he did bit roles in Mexican movies while studying with a Japanese disciple-assistant of the great Russian actor-teacher Stanislavski.

"If I starred in Mexican movies now I'd be a rich man because of the tax advantage, but that country does not do good films."

The handsome, trim actor frequently appears on his sister-in-law's television program, "The Loretta Young Show." Married to her sister Georgeanna, they are the parents of four children who were recent visitors in San Francisco following the opening of their father's musical production.

HOLLYWOOD has given him steady employment since he made "Neptune's Daughter" with Esther Williams in 1945. His most recent roles have seen him in a variety of disguises from "The Reluctant Saint," to "Cheyenne Autumn," and into a policeman's uniform for "The Money Trap," with Rita Hayworth, Glenn Ford, Joseph Cotten and Elke Sommer.

His second and most gratifying experience was to have Trevor Howard and Charleton Heston come back stage after a performance of "King and I" and compliment him on how he had made the role his own after Yul Brynner had scored such a personal success as the stubborn monarch.

"My biggest thrill was in Sayonara with Marlon Brando. I had to study Kabuki for my portrayal as a Japanese which was resented by the Japanese. They would sit, silently for hours, watching me rehearse. Imagine 300 Japanese extras waiting to see me make a fool of myself. But when I filmed the scene with Josh Logan they all stood up and applauded my performance. It was a great tribute."

Frank Reading For Teen-agers

Samuel Chandler

"WHY WAIT 'till Marriage" is a new book by the eminent social counselor, Evelyn Millis Duvall. With appropriate frankness it presents to teen-agers reasons for premarital chasity. These reasons are tersely stated and easily understood.

Each is discussed without sensationalism and with great wisdom. In 12 chapters, Doctor Duvall takes up, one by one, every argument used to justify premarital relations and undermines with facts the fallacious rationalization behind them.

Perhaps some adults may consider this book too detailed and too frank, but, says Doctor Duvall, "Today's ninth and tenth graders are, in many ways, as mature as graduating seniors were 20 years ago . . . in experience, interests, dreams and plans, today's teen-agers are more grown than many adults realize."

"Your morals," she writes in her conclusion, "are the personal rules that you live by. They reflect who you think you are and where you are trying to go. You might have more freedom without any restrictions.

"But otherwise, traffic lights enable everyone to cross an intersection faster than they otherwise would. Waiting until marriage provides a smooth, safe road to the future . . . the spirit of your world is created and re-created by people like you. Your personal decisions express your faith in yourself and in your whole human encounter."

CURRENTLY, Doctor Duvall is chairman of the International Laison Committee, National Council of Family Living. She was the first woman from the Western hemisphere to serve on the General Council of the International Union of Family Organizations. Formerly, she was executive secretary of the National Council of Family Relations.

Perhaps Doctor Duvall is best known for her book, "When You Marry," which she wrote with Dr. Rueben Hill and in collaboration with her husband, Dr. Sylvanus M. Duvall.

This book was created for people contemplating marriage and takes in turn the questions a person usually asks. It begins with the part personality plays in marriage and ends with the problems of family life and religious living.

Among the chapters are "What You Bring to Marriage," "Are You in Love," "Newlyweds," "Money Matters in Marriage," "Common Conflicts," "Where Babies Come From," and "What It Means to Be Parents." Seventeen years after it appeared it was re-edited and adapted for the modern teen-ager and was dedicated to growing families everywhere.

ANOTHER OF Doctor Duvall's books is "Fact of Live and Love for Teen-agers." Here are discussed the pertinent facts of the conduct of life with the insights available to authors whose professional life has led them into physiology, psychology, sociology and ethics. It is recommended for first purchase by the Standard Catalog for Public Libraries.

Still others by Doctor Duvall are "Being Married," in collaboration with Doctor Hill; "Love and the Facts of Life," "Family Development," "Family Living," "The Art of Dating," "Marriage Is What You Make It," and "Sex Ways in Fact and Faith."

What a reviewer in the American Journal of Public Health writes of one of these books may be written of them all: "Any adolescent will be glad to have for background the practical situations described and many an adult will wish that these books had been put in his hands when he was an adolescent."

DOCTOR DUVALL'S husband has written two books that have been widely read, "Art and Skill of Getting Along With People" and "Before You Marry." Both are used as college text books.

Both he and his wife are known for a column that appeared in many newspapers entitled, "Let's Explore Your Mind." Both are known for their activities in behalf of religious living.

Letters to the Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

Your interest in news coverage of the 1965 Crusade Against Cancer has been an important factor in bringing San Mateo's County campaign to its earliest conclusion.

By bringing news of the work of hundreds of volunteers in your area to public attention, your newspaper has given valuable support to the continuing fight to conquer cancer.

The 1965 fund campaign, which went over the county-wide goal of $114,238 by mid-June, has been the most successful in the 18-year history of the American Cancer Society's San Mateo County Branch.

An immeasurable bonus of the Cancer Crusade is its life-saving educational program. This year volunteers in the "Tell Your Neighbor" drive called on more households than ever with the society's message about cancer's danger signals and the importance of frequent medical checkups.

Our Board of Directors extends sincere thanks for the help of The Post in reporting our progress to your readers.

Thomas C. Moroney, President

Louanne's Datebook

By LOUANNE HEATH

VACATION TIME is well under way and, as most of you know, social activities tend to decrease rather rapidly after that final school bell has signaled the end of classes until fall. Localites temporarily forget what a blessing our fog is and rush to the sunny hinterlands for a taste of outdoor living.

This correspondent, like so many of my friends and neighbors, is now off in the high Sierra, forsaking all the conveniences and luxuries of city life for a sleeping bag, a Coleman stove and a roaring campfire at sundown.

The past few weeks, while attempting to take care of the millions of last-minute details that precede each extended absence, I sent out several forms designed to provide material with which to gather information for organizational profiles that will be the subjects of this column during the next few weeks.

From the material that was returned I'll be writing short articles designed to acquaint you with the clubs that are active in this area and let you learn what they are doing and how they plan to work for the general improvement of our community.

Almost every club is constantly on the lookout for new members who can contribute to the general improvement of their programs or who are willing to contribute willing hands and eager minds. Perhaps you have time on your hands and are looking for just the right spot to channel your energies into constructive service.

If so, perhaps during the next few weeks, I'll be describing a group that suits your fancy and when fall rolls around again, your name will be among those prominently connected with some project or another.

If you are connected with a group that has not been contacted for a profile column, please drop by the office of The Post, 30 Park Plaza Drive in Westlake, and pick up a form to fill out and I'll try to cover all the groups who respond before the end of summer.

THE SAN MATEO County YWCA may have slowed down its schedule of activities during the summer but the "think sessions" are in full swing to assure that when fall arrives, the Y will offer just the right program for the women and children of this area.

VIRGINIA CHURCH, director, works with the local Y executive board to assess the community's needs for service, sociability and development of its women and girls. The leadership is charged with the problems inherent in an evaluation of the programs existing in the area and determining where and how the YWCA can supplement or implement programs to fulfill community needs.

According to Miss Church, the present leadership has felt that the area of greatest need is in the realm of pre-school education. The fall program will reflect this attitude by featuring a greatly expanded program for pre-schoolers and their mothers.

Also indicating a feeling of special concern will be the wide selection of pre-teen activities for skill-training, personal development and leadership. Special events and quality classes should insure wide acceptance to the program.

Responsibility for the shape and the character of any group—rests with the officers who lend their time and personalities to any cause with which they work. The Y leadership is currently without a chairman but the executive board continues to function well because all the members are determined to do a good job for their group and the city as a whole.

Mrs. Betty Elliot is the secretary; Mrs. Kay Kaufman, finance chairman; Mrs. Barbara Ahmad, public affairs; Mrs. Betty Vincent, membership; Mrs. Artie Towner, youth program co-ordinator; Mrs. Susan Weiss, volunteer recruitment and development; Mrs. Ann Golder and Mrs. Jean Williams, members at large for special assignments and Mrs. Diane Panelli, YW-Wives president.

THE Y HAS a two-fold furopose within the community. First, to develop, supplement and implement community programs and, second, to assist the members to grow through the concept of "earned leadership." Latent abilities in this area can be drawn out in classes, clubs, and social events.

That the concept is more than a theory has been proven by the number of YWCA members who have had the opportunity to explore their individual potentials and leadership qualities within the friendly framework of the Y and have gone on to serve in other areas in the community.

Since the time the need for a YWCA program was voiced by women who had moved to San Mateo County from San Francisco and since the first director was sent out to Daly City by the San Francisco organization to set up an office in her car, the San Mateo County YWCA has grown rapidly.

Perhaps one of the greatest single factors in its tremendous growth has been the concern for women with children. However, other women should not feel that the Y has nothing to offer them. Membership is open to all women, 17 years of age and over, and their children who are under six years of age. Junior memberships are available for girls 12 to 17 and even men and boys may join as asssociate members. In addition to membership in clubs and classes, there is a need for members who enjoy volunteer work, office and committee adminstration, and for women who simply want a wide choice of activities, good fellowship and fun.

AT PRESENT, the Y is hampered by a lack of space within one central building for adult activities, pre-school classes and infant care—a space located in an area easily accessible by public transportation. According to Miss Church, Daly City has been generous to the Y and has made some facilities available for the programs.

"Our role is our intent," Miss Church explains. "It changes as the needs of the community change for we are, first, flexible enough to start a program where it is needed or drop or change a program as it needs change.

"In our endeavor to do the most for the community, we work closely with the schools, the mental health center and other groups that are concerned with a healthy community." And she adds:

"Currently we hope to bring a variety of programs to a larger section of the North Peninsula, to work more closely with other groups in order to bring the programs that do fulfill the real needs, to increase membership to represent the entire area and communicate the needs and desires of larger segments of the community. There is a spirit to the YWCA that can only be felt and fully understood by those who are involved in this movement."

Could it be that the YWCA is the organization with which you wish to affiliate? Call Virginia Church at PL 6-7370 and talk it over some day soon.

Engagement Announced

Joanne Marie Santuccio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Santuccio of 66 North Mayfair Avenue, Daly City, and Justin William Zakis, son of Mrs. Justin L. Zakis of San Francisco, have announced their engagement.

The bride-to-be attended Westmoor High School and the College of San Mateo.

The future groom attended Balboa High School in San Francisco.

The engagement was announced at a party given by parents of the couple. The wedding will be in August.

S.S.F. Auxiliary Installs Officers At S.M. Ceremony

The annual installation luncheon of the Women's Auxiliary of South San Francisco was held at the Castaways Restaurant in San Mateo.

City Attorney John Noonan gave a talk on "Twentieth Century Pirates." A vote of thanks for auxiliary services was expressed by Milton Bronstein, president of the board of directors.

Mrs. Louis Mann, who served as secretary and publicity chairman for the group, was installed as president.

Mrs. Jerry Harden received her pin as vice president, as did Mrs. Al Diamond, secretary, and Mrs. Frank Mammini, treasurer.

Boys' Club of America Certificates of Appreciation were presented to outgoing officers.

Annual House Tour Planned

"Cosmopolitan San Francisco at Home," the YMCA-YWCA's eleventh annual intercultural house tour, will be held Saturday, August 7, from 1 to 4 p.m., and will be followed by an international tea at 5 p.m. at the YWCA at 1830 Sutter Street, San Francisco.

Tickets are on sale at all YMCA and YWCA centers in San Francisco, Marin, and San Mateo Counties for $2.50. This includes both the tour and the tea. Bus transportation is available for $1 and may be reserved by calling WE 1-8720 or WA 1-3814 by August 2.

Five houses of different ethnic backgrounds will be shown.

They include the imposing Scott Street residence of Indonesian Consul General and Mrs. Rudy Carnadi, with its fine Indonesian painting, puppets and furniture.

Ladies in costume from the various islands and members of the consulate will present a demonstration of Indonesian products as a highlight of this part of the tour.

Two homes are located in Diamond Heights. One, the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Albert Lieuteau, is completely furnished in Mediterranean decor.

The other, owned by Mr. and Mrs. David Berelson Jr., is done in a combination of antique and modern, with handloomed contemporary rugs on bare floors, and modern chairs, settees, and lamps mingling with an old trunk used as an end table and a 150-year-old Mormon rope bed.

Across town, a fourth home, that of Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair Louie, has a blue, green, and gold Chinese modern living and dining room, rare ivory carvings, and a Hawaiian family room.

The fifth stop on the tour is artist Miriam Wornum's Green Street home and studio. It features an art collection and objects collected throughout the world.

Tour guests also will see some of the artist's "dream paintings" to be shown during December at the Palace of the Legion of Honor.

"DENTAL HEALTH FACTS"

The Cause of Cavities — The cause of cavities is not known, but most dentists agree sugar is considered as one of the possible factors. This is not the whole answer, but it is important to remember that if we are going to face facts, we may have to limit the sugar in our diet for the sake of our teeth. The problem is a great one. Among sugar containing items are many of the fruits, fruit juices, and vegetables. Even skimmed milk contains about 5% sugar. The list is almost endless, and includes such things as cookies, candies, soft drinks, pies, cakes, ice cream, jams, jellies, etc. Ask your dentist about the amount of sugar permissible for the health of your teeth.

Dr. Campbell tries to limit his practice to the making of dental plates, partial plates, removable bridges and extractions for same; however, he recommends that you see your dentist at least twice a year in order to help prolong the use of your natural teeth as even the beautiful modern dentures are not as efficient as healthy, natural teeth.

Sugar... 'n' Spice

By NELL NORTON

WHEN IT COMES to delicious eating, what meat is more of a favorite than ham? Its pink, succulent goodness adds pleasure to any meal. Whether you prefer a canned, ready-to-eat ham or the cook-before-eating variety, ham makes a mighty taste entree.

Remember, in baking a ham, set your oven at 325-degrees and allow more time for a cook-before-eating variety. Using a meat thermometer, insert it into the center of the thickest part of the ham, away from the bone.

The cooking time would be dictated by the weight of the ham, but as an average, a whole, bone-in, cook-before-eating ham weighing 8 to 10 pounds would take about three and a half hours. A ready-to-eat ham of the same proportions would take about 2 to 2¼ hours.

The thermometer should read 150 to 155-degrees in a cook-before-eating ham at the end of the baking time. In a pre-cooked ham, the temperature should read 130 degrees.

When your ham is baked, score it and press whole cloves into the fat. Glaze with a mixture of brown sugar, prepared mustard and pineapple juice, return to oven for about a half hour or until nicely glazed.

Since there is no gravy with ham, it's wise to plan a starch that doesn't need gravy, such as scalloped potatoes or potato souffle.

POTATO SOUFFLE

2 cups hot mashed potatoes
2 eggs
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter

To the mashed potatoes add butter, salt and pepper and the egg yolks that have been beaten until very light, and the milk. Stir until well blended and then fold in the stiffly-beaten egg-whites. Mix lightly and pile the potatoes in a well-greased baking dish. Set in a pan of hot water and bake in a 375-degree oven for 20 to 30 minutes. Serve at once.

ONE OF THE nicer things about ham is that left over, it's just as good as hot. And most of us plan our ham dinners so there will be lots left over for sandwiches. And after the sandwiches, what's to do with the leftovers from the leftovers?

HAM AND NOODLE CASSEROLE

1 package (8-ounce) medium noodles, cooked and drained
2 tablespoons butter, melted
1 teaspoon poppy seeds
3 cups diced, cooked ham minced
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 can cream of celery soup, undiluted
1 cup milk
¼ teaspoon sweet basil, crushed
¼ teaspoon oregano, crushed
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup crushed corn flakes
½ cup grated cheese

Mix noodles, one tablespoon butter, poppy seeds, ham, onion soup, milk and seasonings. Turn into a buttered two-quart casserole. Mix remaining butter, cornflakes and cheese and sprinkle over top. Bake in 350-degree oven for 30 minutes. Makes six servings.

WITH FRESH fruits so abundant, my mind kept turning to a fresh peach cobbler. Finally the urge became irresistable and this delicious cobbler is the result.

SPECIAL PEACH COBBLER

8 cups sliced peaches
1 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 egg, well beaten
2 cups biscuit mix
1 cup milk
¾ stick of butter
¼ cup granulated sugar
¼ cup sliced, blanched almonds

Sprinkle lemon juice and brown sugar several times over sliced peaches. Pour into a shallow baking dish. Mix egg, milk and biscuit mix and pour over peaches. Pour melted butter in thin stream over batter. Sprinkle granulated sugar uniformly over the batter. Top with almonds. Bake in 350-degree oven about 40 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 10 servings.

I served my cobbler the old-fashioned way with cream poured over it. You might prefer whipped cream or ice cream. Either is delicious on the warm cobbler.

Buying note: I halved my recipe and it took seven peaches of medium size to make four cups of sliced peaches.

Food Entries Being Sought

"We'd like to show what can be done, what is being done in the kitchens and hobby shops of the county," said Mrs. H. R. Hulett of Portola Valley, chairman of the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta Home Arts Division as she urged housewives to enter their wares in the thirty-first annual home arts judging.

Although most of last year's exhibitors will once again enter the preserved foods, baked goods and textiles competition, Mrs. Hulett reports that entries are slow in coming in. Tuesday is the deadline.

"We know that almost every housewife does one thing exceptionally well," said Mrs. Hulett, "something that all her neighbors know about. We'd like to see her enter that special item in the fair and have the fun of seeing her pickles or knitting or chocolate chip cookies on display when she and her family come to the fair."

However, competition is not limited to women, Mrs. Hulett pointed out. "Some of our biggest winners in the past have been men who have shown real imagination and expertise in the home arts," she said.

Group displays must contain at least 10 entries in each category. Mrs. Hulett emphasized that considerable prize money may be gained by group display entries and suggested that organizations consider entering a display as a money-making activity.

Special booths are also presented by San Mateo County granges.

All home arts exhibitors are given free passes to the fiesta. Persons interested in entering their home arts projects should call the Fair office at 345-3541 and ask for Mrs. Hulett.

Keeping Pace With Mr. 007

QUICK CHANGE KIT

By BARBARA BLADEN

IN THIS modern day world of fast action where James Bond is a pacemaker for young, masculine sophisticates the women in his life must be well armed with "secret" beauty weapons.

Her attache case of disguises must include every kind of reversible from interchangeable day and night wear to a completely new appearance at the turn of a head.

Speaking of heads, the most identifiable part of any woman's image, a 15-minute hair color kit, will change a blonde to a brunette or a kitten into a tiger in less time than it takes to change the color of her nail polish.

DEFINITELY designed for quick change artists who can't afford the luxury of time in a beauty parlor, there are nine colors that can be applied wherever James Bond leads the chase.

Take a trip on a train, a jet, go to a party, attend the races, visit a turkish bath, enter a nightclub or look in at a hospital and somewhere behind a closed door a woman may be putting the color on her hair and pulling the wool over her enemies' eyes.

Everything necessary to the transformation is contained in the kit and the application only requires pouring it on the hair, combing it through and rinsing it off.

Unknown adventures are in store with the tick of a clock and the flick of a comb, far less perilous than cocking a Baretta but still holding a promise of danger where attracting men is concerned.

THE BUILT-IN conditioner is a beauty bonus and the color won't fade away like an "old soldier." Its creamy consistency prevents it from dripping so there is little evidence even at short notice that anything unusual is amiss with a Miss.

"Shades Ahead" is the code word that all women looking for new excitement in fashion are discussing. It was the topic of conversation with fashion editors recently when Mary Miles, actress and radio commentator, introduced the glamor product to the Bay Area.

Having been an interior decorator specializing in rooms designed for a limited budget, it was a natural for her to become the official representative for Breck's. As the originator of a television game entitled "Name That Comb," she illustrated with a large color chargt how easy it is to "Choose That Color."

Auto Supply Firm Opens Third Store

The Scherba's Auto Stores of Millbrae and San Mateo has opened their third store, located in Menlo Park at El Camino Real and Oak Grove.

Working together has been a family tradition with the three Scherba brothers, Vern, Ted and Don, since their younger days in San Francisco.

Their experience during high school days of overhauling old cars in the family garage inspired the three brothers to open a commerical auto repair garage in San Mateo in 1946.

They continued to operate this garage business until 1949 at which time they pooled their resources and opened their first auto parts and supply store in Millbrae on El Camino Real at Capuchino Drive.

After expanding their store in 1958, they changed the name to "Scherba's Auto Stores" from the initial name of Scherba's Auto Supply.

In 1963 they opened their second store in San Mateo on El Camino Real at Thirty-ninth Avenue.

The new store makes Scherba's the largest auto parts retail outlet on the Peninsula.

The Menlo Park store will be under the management of Jim Lytle, while Russell Lee will continue to manage the San Mateo store and Donald Feblowitz remains as manager of the original store in Millbrae.

Curriculum Group Set In Laguna

The Laguna Salada School District has established a seventh and eighth grade study committee that will make recommendations for reorganizing the curriculum in these grades.

According to Lucas, the committee is composed of six teachers, a principal, a curriculum consultant, and a representative of the pupil-personnel office.

He said the committee must make their recommendations before a January 1, 1966, deadline and that the district hopes to implement any recommendations in September of 1966. Chairman of the committee is Eunice Nieting.

The board accepted a proposal from Henry Doelger Builder Incorporated for 60,000 cubic yards of fill material to be used on the Edgemar School site in the Pacific Manor area.

Acceptance of the fill material was approved by the firm of Masten and Hurd, engineers, and the city engineer of Pacifica.

In other business, the board approved a tax sheltered annuity for all district personnel. In an agreement with Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, personnel will have deductions made from their salaries for the purchase of annuities.

Income taxes will not have to be paid on this money until the employe retires and begins receiving benefits from the annuities, officials said.

Legislation was enacted by the 1963 Legislature that permits the governing boards of California school districts to purchase tax-sheltered annuities for employes of their school districts, either through the State Teachers' Retirement System or independent insurance companies.

GAS SIPHONED

Officials of Cassini Appliance at 6570 Mission Street, Daly City, reported to polilce last week that thieves had siphoned 40 gallons of gasoline from three parked cars, parked behind the firm's building.

C.I.T.Y. Group to Hear Anti-Poverty Act Talk

Robert Muller, a librarian, will be the guest speaker at a meeting of the new Community Interaction Through You (C.I.T.Y.) group at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Lincoln Park Clubhouse at Acton and Brunswick Streets in Daly City.

He will discuss benefits available under the federal government's Anti-Poverty Act and the Aid to Education Act. A question and answer period will be held.

The Rev. Howard A. Bryant, chairman of C.I.T.Y., said the program is one of a series that will be held to help promote a more informed citizenry.

2,400 Gallons Stolen

Steal 2,400 gallons of cleaning fluid?

That's what a thief did at South San Francisco over last weekend, some thief, police theorized, who was equipped with a tank truck. The loss was estimated at $3,240.

Robert Lamanet, president of Goss-Jewett Company, 416 Browning Way, South San Francisco, told police the theft was discovered when employes returned from the July Fourth holiday.

Of course the pump gauges on the outside storage tank showed 2,400 gallons missing, and the padlocks on the pumps had been broken open, but who would steal 2,400 gallons of perchler ethylene cleaning fluid?

S.S.F. Mayor Names Team For Cleanup

South San Francisco Mayor Frank Bertucelli has appointed Robert Lambertson of 30 Arlington Drive general chairman of the newly established Committee on Civic Improvement.

The committee was established by a resolution adopted by the City Council and has been given the responsibility of conducting a Clean up-Fix up-Paint up-city beautification campaign on an annual basis.

Chairman Lambertson has announced that the first general meeting of the entire committee will be held at 7:30 p.m. today in the City Hall council chambers.

All citizens who are interested in the community effort are invited to attend the meeting at which campaign plans will be presented by division chairmen.

The aim of the campaign, Lambertson stated, is to win first prize in the National Cleanest Town Achievement Award competition.

This year marks the fourth time South San Francisco has entered the competition and in the previous three years the city has received national acclaim for its efforts in the area of civic improvement.

Mayor Bertucelli also appointed Rona Basanez, 103 Del Monte Drive as vice chairman; Mrs. Alastair Fintayson, 214 Verano Drive, as general secretary, and John Dillon, 28 Arlington Drive, as finance officer.

Speed Suspects Oblige by Colliding With Each Other

Daly City Patrolman Dennis Sheehy faced the tricky task of halting not one but two speeding cars late Thursday night and came up a winner when the two autos collided with each other at Lake Merced and Skyline Boulevards in San Francisco.

The impact flipped over one of the autos, driven by William J. Redder of San Francisco, several times but the driver escaped injury.

The chase began at Skyline and Alemany Boulevard in Daly City and reached speeds up to 100 miles an hour, Sheehy said.

Redder and the driver of the other car, a 17-year-old San Francisco youth, were charged with reckless driving and engaging in a speed contest.

In addition, the 17-year-old youth was charged with driving with a suspended operator's license.

D.C. JAYCEE TALK

Halfway House Bridges a Gap

A "HALF-WAY HOUSE" that lessens the "shock of withdrawal" from prison was described by a Baptist minister, himself an ex-convict, at the July dinner meeting of the Daly City Junior Chamber of Commerce last week.

The Rev. Lawrence Baulch, founder and executive director of the Peninsula Half-Way House, told the group, meeting at Bertolucci's Restaurant in South San Francisco, that the home for prison parolees in San Mateo "fulfills a human need that churches and the community have failed to meet."

The Half-Way House accommodates only 11 men at a time, although requests for entry from "overdue" parolees come from penal systems throughout the West.

THE HOUSE was founded by Reverend Baulch in 1960. Since then, more than 200 men have passed through its doors. Of these, two-thirds have remained out of prison, which, the minister indicated, was a "very encouraging" figure.

Since the house acts as a "bridge between prison and normal life," there are certain restrictions on the men, the speaker explained.

Without the zoo-like discipline of an institution, "the men return to prison as an addict returns to his drugs," he observed. "The Half-Way House lessens the shock of withdrawal."

Reverend Baulch cited lack of steady employment for house members as a major problem, particularly in summer months when vacationing school youngsters provide a large labor force.

AT THE MEETING, he introduced one of the members of the house, a recent parolee from a California prison, one of many ex-convicts currently seeking employment

The Half-Way House, Reverend Baulch explained, is making a plea for employment opportunities to service clubs and industries throughout the county.

A week earlier, the minister addressed the Daly City Rotary Club. He was accompanied by another house resident in need of work.

Reverend Baulch said the key to finding a useful and normal life for former inmates was "acceptance and understanding by the community."

Usually, he said, the community exhibits "an unforgiving attitude to the former criminal trying to return to society."

It is this attitude, he said, that the Peninsula Half-Way House seeks to overcome.

Jaycee President Bill Wipple welcomed four new members at the session. They are: Ralph Salmon, Don Yerby, Peter Curach and Marvin Lewis.

Dinner arrangements were handled by Fred Tautenhahn, meeting chairman.

Two Injured In Accidents In Daly City

Two persons were injured in two auto accidents in Daly City over the weekend.

Orin E. Harder, 56, of 80 Santa Cruz Avenue, Daly City, was injured about 10:15 Saturday morning when his auto and a car driven by James A. Bartoli, 55, of Tahoe Valley collided at Santa Cruz and Guadalupe Avenue.

Harder was treated at St. Luke's Hospital and released.

In the second accident, Laurice Law, 25, of 944 Schwerin Street, Daly City, complained of head and neck pains when the car in which she was riding, driven by Eugene Law, 37, also of the Schwerin Street Address, struck a parked auto in front of 372 Rio Verde Street about 6:30 p.m. Sunday.

The auto was parked in front of the residence of its owner, William Wood. Law told police the steering mechanism on his auto had failed.

S.F. Rider Dies in Fall

A San Francisco horseman died Friday afternoon of head injuries he received when he fell while riding a horse at the Castro Ranch off Iwo Jima Road in Daly City.

The victim was Alex L. Gioncondi, 49. He fell Friday morning and died later at Kaiser Foundation Hospital in San Francisco.

Police said that a ranch hand had spotted a riderless horse and after investigation, found Gioncondi lying on the ground. There were no witnesses to the accident, investigators said.

Coast Girl Is Injured

An 18-year-old Pacifica girl suffered a back injury when the auto she was driving was struck by a hit-and-run car on Alemany Boulevard east of Skyline Boulevard in Daly City about 10:30 p.m. last Wednesday.

The girl, Vanda M. Trimmer of 8 Malavear Court was admitted to Kaiser Foundation Hospital in South San Francisco. The accident was being investigated by Daly City police.

Champagne Brunch Has Added Surprise Treat

Alert PHIL RAUSCHER, general manager of the South San Francisco INTERNATIONAL INN RESTAURANT, has been trying to figure out a way to satisfy the particular appetites of his many customers, plus add that certain something extra that brings happiness to others. After much thought, Phil finally reached a decision—and, to my way of thinking, it's a great one. Sundays, the International Inn restaurant will feature a special Champagne Buncheon (menu appears on these pages) which will be served from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.—Also a child's plate (under 12 years of age). Now for the added surprise: In addition to the Champange Buncheon, Mr. Rauscher, upon request, will send in your name, plus 15 percent of your total bill, to your church or favorite charity. A waitress will supply the form fill-outs when serving. Plan to be one of the first to enjoy the Champagne Buncheon "kick-off" at the International restaurant, this Sunday.

CHUCK HERSCHLER AND HIS VIRGINIA toured the Lake Tahoe territory last weekend, in a new car (purchased from RECTOR CADILLAC, natch). Received a quickie note from Chuck which said he made all the stops, and that his right hand may be swollen for a day or two—due to heavy slot machine play. He concluded with, "upon returning to the Peninsula, we enjoyed a terrific Mexican dinner at PANCHO'S in Redwood City!". . . . PHIL LEHR bought those beautiful crystal chandeliers at the Paramount Theater, now being torn down. They'll decorate his new Wellington Room when it opens. . . . ROCCA'S restaurant cashier, LEE YAGER, picked up the direct line to a local cab company, "We have a customer ready for one of your chargers." The cheery voice on the other end asked, "Is your customer Lady Godiva?". . . . PEPPERMINT TREE, S.F.'s first rock 'n roll dancery to present live music for dancing, has gone topless: TOSHA, the Glo Girl, swim starlet from Big Al's, headlines this week.

A BIT OF MERRY OL' ENGLAND has been transplanted to the Peninsula—and I'm speaking of LEO DARDARIAN'S outstanding RED LION INN located in the Hillsdale Mall. The menu is sure to please the most discriminating diner. Specialties of the house are many—such as Bangers and Mashed, an old English favorite, served with authentic English sausages in casserole with mashed potatoes and a special sauce. With the full course dinners, the surprise hors d'oeurves are English rarebit or Cockieleekie Soup and Hovis Bread. . . . The rip roarin' ROVERS (all seven of them) are kicking up a storm in Nero's Nook at the swank Palo Alto CABANA HOTEL every night, except Monday, when BUDDY BOHN, the Wandering Minstrel, takes over. Never a cover or minimum in the Nook. . . . HOPE CHEST, new exotic dance star at the MOULIN ROUGE, was a favorite with the Hollywood movie crowd when she played the Pink Pussy Cat for over a year.

SAL CARSON'S recording band sets the rhythm beat at HOBERG'S RESORT. Carson, who has picked up the tempos of Dorsey, James, Goodman, et al, blends them all together and produces the "big band sound" during his Hoberg's stint throughout the summer months. . . . LEW LEHR is back at his Marina steak house after playing in the NUGGET GOLF CLASSIC—and I can't wait to hear if he won a prize! Lew practiced for a month for this one. . . . Lots of new class has been added to things in general around FINOCCHIO'S in San Francisco. In addition to the brilliant new gold decor of the stage, there is a new electric sign outside in which gold predominates with a bit of pale green trimming. And now the cocktail waiters are wearing gold-hued jackets with an impressive sparkle. . . . That slow-motion bit of an old time movie done by the SATELLITES at the GALAXIE is a screamy one, as is there slow-motion impression of the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston fight. Real comedy! . Better join the "Top-O-The-Surf" members at RON GIANNOTTI'S SURF HOUSE. It's a smart meeting place for cocktails, private parties and banquets—and affords a panoramic view of lagoons and San Mateo hills.

STAN KENTON
Tin Pan Alley

Stan Kenton
Tin Pan Alley

Big news for Stan Kenton fans. After an absence of over two years, Stan Kenton and his big band with the well known brass section, made their musical debut at the Tin Pan Alley in Redwood City.

Kenton will present three shows nightly, except Monday, through July 17.

Monday night neons the Modesto Briseno Quartet, another great musical group featuring Modesto Briseno, who was formerly with Benny Goodman and Harry James. Cute Lynn McPhillips does the vocaling.

The Tin Pan Alley is now "pink slipped" to attractive Miss Peggy Raymond, who, while planning future entertainment bookings, is also overseeing the club's redecorating.

Reasonably-priced Italian food is served in an atmosphere of geniality at the North Beach New Tivoli.

Mexican Food and Entertainment

Both localites and tourists will have to look far and wide to find a food and entertainment package to compare with Luz Garcia's exciting Sinaloa offer.

The finest in Mexican food is served, plus delicious New York and filet steaks broiled to order.

Backdrop this with an outstanding all-Mexican floor show (three shows nightly), dancing, and cocktails, and your "trip to Mexico" is complete.

If you're planning a year-end banquet or party celebration at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel, don't hesitate to make reservations — the little black book is filling fast.

During the noon hour at the Burlingame Hyatt House, a secretary complained, "This is the first time I've had to wait in line to get out of a restaurant!"

Weekday lunching is "pleasure dining" in the charming Cafe Medallion of the St. Francis Hotel. Open Monday to Friday, 12 to 2:30 p.m.

Foster's Offers Chicken, Apple Pie And Toy Money

One of the best food buys on the Peninsula is offered by Foster's Original Pancake and Chicken House. A bucket of chicken (14 pieces), 10 fluffy biscuits and a pint of country gravy for just $3.90.

As if this wasn't enought: Foster's also gives you a FREE apple pie. Toy money for the kiddies with this package, too.

Transportation To Nick's Now Only Minutes Away

Nick Gust's restaurants, The Turtle and Nick's, are situated just 50 feet from the shores of the Pacific ocean in Rockaway Beach. Here, you'll find wonderful dining and lots of entertainment—and it's only minutes away, via a scenic drive on a new freeway. Breakfast, luncheon or diner seven days a week

Barney's Casino 'The Lucky Club'

Barney's Casino, Lake Tahoe (South Shore), Nevada, is fast becoming known as "The Lucky Club" with the "Bus Set." Your Bright Lighter took a ride to Barney's on the 6 a.m. Greyhound Bus departure from San Francisco and overheard several of the passengers comment on their "Winning of the Green" at Barney's. In fact, I even enjoyed a little "luck of the Irish" at this popular Stateline casino.

New Hours For Gourmet Table

The Gourmet Table, which proved an instant hit in the Peninsula food parade, has announced a new restaurant policy. New hours are now 4 p.m. to 9 p.m. daily with service limited to dinner only.

The Gourmet Table is located at 28th Avenue and El Camino Real; plenty of free parking located in back of the restaurant.

Taj Of India For Curries

Know many of you are crazy about Indian curries. I, for one, make Taj of India my choice for this particular dish. The Taj, an authentic Indian restaurant, is a favorite with the San Francisco dineout set.

All the spices here are blended by the Taj of India chefs.

Sushil Kakar is the popular dining room host and will assist you in selecting.

SHORT ON SPACE FOR WEEKEND GUESTS?

Put them up with us. We have singles, doubles and suites. For families with small children, our rooms are large enough to add a rollaway bed or two. Or a crib. We'll even find a baby sitter.

Gourmet food and fine entertainment are also a part of the luxury you enjoy at every Hyatt House hotel. Ideal for banquets and meetings, too.

Special Attraction: Bob Wellman and his Orchestra in the magnificent Scheherazade Room.

SPECIAL ELECTION

Single Hospital Proposal Offered

County supervisors decided yesterday to submit a single package bond proposal for public health facility improvements to the electorate in a special election September 21.

The total bond figure will be $7,225,000, which includes $5,973,000 for a six-story addition atop the new wing of County General Hospital in San Mateo, $320,000 for alterations in the outpatient clinic in the old portion of the hospital, and the county's $950,000 share of a new $2,800,000 wing for psychiatric services.

There had been some discussion about separating the psychiatric wing proposal from the general hospital proposal on the ballot, but members of the board decided that both improvements are essential and should be approved as a single package.

It was also determined yesterday that the hours the polls will be open for the special election will be 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

It is planned that after the new facilities have been built, the county tuberculosis sanitorium west of Redwood City will be closed down and its patients transfered to San Mateo. The Redwood City building will then be sold, according to the plan, and the proceeds used to help pay off the bonds.

Extension Of Freeway Bids Asked

A $10,425,000 project to extend Junipero Serra Freeway three and one-half miles southerly through San Mateo County has been advertised for bids to be opened July 28 in Sacramento.

The new construction will extend from Eastmoor Avenue in Daly City, where the first northerly section of this freeway is now under construction, to Arroyo Drive in South San Francisco.

The contract will include interchanges at Westborough Boulevard, the extensions of Hickey Boulevard and Collins Avenue, and separation structures at King Drive extension and at Chinese Cemetery Road.

Structures for the future interchange with State Route 1 will also be constructed in this contract.

Through the hills west of existing Junipero Serra Boulevard bordering Winston Manor, the freeway will be constructed on a split-level profile; southbound lanes will be 12 feet higher than the northbound roadway.

The normal 24-foot-wide median which will separate opposing directions of traffic at the north end of the project, will be widened as the route progresses through the split-level section to a maximum of 60 feet.

Suitable dust palliatives will be applied to haul roads and fill slopes during the course of construction to minimize the dust and dirt for the surrounding areas, and new slopes will be planted with functional type ground cover for erosion control.

It is estimated that almost three years will be required for the construction, making completion probable in the summer of 1968.

Assessor Is Praised by Association

The president of the Peninsula Manufacturers Association has backed County Assessor Ralph Woodman in "equalizing the property assessment of San Mateo County."

In a letter to the county board of supervisors, Percy A. Wood, said:

"We feel that Mr. Woodman did the job he was requested to do."

He said he was "surprised . . . to see a statement to the effect that when you (board of supervisors) sit as a Board of Equalization that you consider each and every protest and award reductions in the assessed evaluations as one way of reducing the impact on the taxpayers. This . . . completely defeats the purpose of the equalized reassessment . . ."

"We are dedicated to equalize assessments followed by review of Government budgets and discussions with the taxing authorities as being the only proper way to contain the tax burden in the County," he stated.

WINDOWS BROKEN

Luther Ward of 1096 Southgate Avenue, Daly City, reported to police last week that vandals had broken windows in his trucks, parked at St. Francis and Skyline Boulevards.

Chestmobile Unit Slates County Tour

The big white Chestmobile is back from its vacation in time to make sure that San Mateo County residents can continue to take their "vacation" from tuberculosis, lung cancer and enlarged heart.

The mobile X-ray unit of the Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association of San Mateo County, returning to action after a month off for its yearly inspection and overhaul, will be stationed during the remainder of July and August at:

Association headquarters, 2250 Palm Avenue, San Mateo, from 1 to 5 p.m. on July 19, 26, and August 2, 9, 16, 23 and 30.

Cypress and Grand Avenue, South San Francisco, noon to 6 p.m., on July 13 and 14.

Brisbane Market, Brisbane, p.m. today.

Sim's Market, Fifth and Middlefield Road, Redwood City, Noon to 6 p.m., July 20 and 21.

Village Shopping Center, Bay Road, West Palo Alto, noon to 6 p.m., July 22 and 23.

Econ Market, 201 Bayshore Boulevard, San Mateo, noon to 6 p.m., July 27.

Pacific Manor, Coast Highway, Pacifica, noon to 6 p.m., August 10.

Landi's Supermarket, 1750 Francisco Boulevard, Pacifica, noon to 6 p.m. August 11.

Linda Mar Shopping Center, Pacifica, noon to 6 p.m., August 12 and 13.

An annual checkup is urged by medical authorities for all persons 15 years of age and older.

DeMolay Unit Seats Officers

South San Francisco Chapter, Order of De Molay recently held its twenty-ninth installation of new officers at the Masonic Temple.

New officers include Master Councilor Dennis Spinelli and Clayton E. White Jr., John Miramontes, Timothy Henry, Donald Flynn, Ronald Patterson, John White, Marshal Sherrill, Norman Nasise, Bill Fox, Mike Cohen, Dave Meek, Bill DeVine, John Mason, James Musbach, David Myers, John Anderson, Andy Peterson, Steve McCarty, Larry Miramontes, Max Perex and Hadles Dykes.

Al Renn and Mrs. Mary Compton were host and hostess. Organist was James C. Myers, and Mrs. Carol Spinelli and Miss Virginia Church served as usherettes.

Veal Skillet Meal From a Stovetop

Sprightly as the bright pink geraniums which decorate your dinner table is Veal Skillet Supper — a dish guaranteed to renew your family's interest in a "meat and potatoes" menu. Bright carrot strips garnish the delectable combination of veal cubes, new potatoes, and canned mushroom gravy — sparked by judicious seasonings of marjoram and rosemary.

With canned gravies on hand, inspired skillet and oven casserole dishes can always be as close at hand as your pantry shelf — and can be prepared with virtually no cooking effort on your part. Even leftover vegetables and meats respond beautifully when given a perky saucing of these tempting gravies. Choose from four kinds—chicken, beef, mushroom, or giblet — then let your imagination take over.

Veal Skillet Supper

1 pound veal shoulder cubes (1-inch)
2 tablespoons shortening
2 cans (10½ ounces each) mushroom gravy
3 medium carrots, cut in 2-inch strips
½ teaspoon marjoram, crushed
¼ teaspoon rosemary, crushed
8 small new potatoes

In skillet, brown veal in shortening. Pour off fat. Add gravy, carrots, and seasonings. Cover; cook over low heat 15 minutes. Add potatoes; cook 45 minutes more or until meat and vegetables are tender. Makes four servings.

Summer Dream

Canned salmon is a homemaker's dream for summertime meals. It's low cost when figured on a "per serving" basis, actually costing less than meat. Also on the plus side is that canned salmon has fewer calories per ounce than meat, yet ranks high in complete protein and 95 per cent digestive. Here is a delicious low-calorie salad from a can of salmon.

Popcorn Becomes Lollipop

A Sunday outing or a trip to Grandma's is fun. However, it does have its hazards, especially when it comes to how to ward off the inevitable restlessness of the younger set. Something to eat can be a helpful diversion. Popcorn lollipops on flavored candy sticks satisfy for a sweet and amuse deliciously. They are quick to make. As the corn pops in its own foil fry pan, the marshmallow mixture melts. Stir together and shape into lollipops. Insert the candy stick and pack in individual plastic bags.

To avoid sticky hands while munching, wrap foil holders around bottom of each candy stick before packing in bags.

POPCORN LOLLIPOPS

1-3 cup butter or margarine
¾ lb. marshmallows
½ teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
Few drops red food coloring
1 package ready to pop corn
12 candy sticks

Put butter and marshmallows in pan over hot water. Cover. Heat until marshmallows are melted. Add vanilla, spices, food coloring. Prepare popcorn according to directions on package. Put popped corn into greased bowl. Pour over marshmallow mixture. Shape into 12, three-inch rounds, about one inch thick. Insert candy stick in each popcorn pattie. For holder on bottom of stick, cut 1½ by 3-inch strips of aluminum foil and wind around ends of candy sticks. Makes 12 lollipops.

Almond Chicken And Rice Entree

Cooking in a chafing dish can be as much fun for the hostess as it is for her guests.

For example, when Almond Chicken and Rice is the entree chosen, the ingredients can be artfully arranged on an attractive tray and placed next to the chafing dish for at-the-table cooking. Almond Chicken and Rice is a quickly cooked entree which combines chicken and crisply tender-cooked vegetables with a well seasoned sauce that is delightful served over hot fluffy rice. Complete such a menu with jellied fruit salad, and for dessert, chocolate sauced snowballs.

The rice for this Oriental-inspired entree can be cooked especially for the dish or it may be reheated cooked rice. Leftover rice, unlike other foods, never tastes left over. Cooked rice will keep, covered, in the refrigerator for a week; at zero degrees in a freezer for at least 8 months. Cooked rice and thawed frozen cooked rice are easily reheated — simply add 2 tablespoons liquid to each cup of cooked rice, cover and steam 4 to 5 minutes.

Almond Chicken and Rice

1 can (5 oz.) bamboo shoots
1 can (5 oz.) water chestnuts
1 pound chicken breasts, skinned and boned
1 cup thinly sliced mushrooms
3 tablespoons salad oil
1 clove garlic, minced
¾ cup thinly sliced celery
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon sugar
4 teaspoons soy sauce
½ cup water
½ cup blanched almonds
½ cup thinly sliced green onions
3 cups hot cooked rice

Drain bamboo shoots and water chestnuts, reserving ½ cup of the liquid. Slice water chestnuts thinly. Cut chicken into thin strips. Brown chicken, bamboo shoots and mushrooms lightly in 2 tablespoons oil with garlic. Add water chestnuts, celery, reserved liquid and salt. Cover and simmer 7 to 5 minutes or until celery is barely tender. Mix cornstarch with sugar, soy sauce and water and add to chicken mixture with half of the almonds, which have been lightly browned in remaining oil. Cook until thickened and clear, stirring constantly. Pour into serving dish; sprinkle with remaining almonds and green onions. Serve over rice. Makes 6 servings.

SERVE A ROBUST CHOWDER — Canned cream of potato dry soup mix is the tasty base, enhanced by canned tuna, chopped canned tomatoes, and bay leaf. A basket of crackers . . . and some canned fruit for dessert . . . make quick and satisfying meal.

A 6,000-Year-Old Dish Still Good

The table of India is of venerable fame and dates back to 6,000 years. The curries of olden days have come down through the ages and burgeoned with amazing unrestraint.

Plan an exciting main dish for family or friends. Start with the concept of the famous Indian cookery, but create your own masterpiece. Canned condensed soups, such as cream of chicken, can give full reign to your creative powers and keep the preparation to an absolute minimum.

This Chicken Asparagus Curry combines the traditional flavor of curry with the popular taste of chicken and fresh asparagus, all melded together by the savory delicacy of the soup. Hardly an authentic curry dish by Indian standards but well within the tradition.

Fresh pineapple chunks topped with toasted coconut make a modern dessert in keeping with the theme of the meal.

Chicken Asparagus Curry

- 2 pounds chicken parts
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- ½ cup thickly sliced celery
- ½ cup sliced onion
- 2 teaspoons curry powder
- 1 medium clove garlic, minced
- 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
- 1 pound asparagus, diagonally cut in 2-inch pieces
- 2 tablespoons water
- 1 tablespoon flour

In skillet, brown chicken in butter and cook celery, onion, curry, and garlic until celery is tender. Add soup. Cover; cook over low heat 25 minutes. Stir now and then. Add asparagus; cook 20 minutes longer or until meat and asparagus are tender. Remove chicken and vegetables to heated platter; keep warm. Gradually blend water into flour; stir into sauce. Cook, stirring until thickened. Makes four servings.

Beer Can Be Used in Many Drinks

Like your beer straight? Most people do, but the fact is that beer also can be the base for a variety of delectable drinks. Some are traditional, others were developed by Schaefer especially with women in mind.

Fresh as a spring or summer breeze, they're ideal for on-the-terrace entertaining, afternoon bridge parties, or plain at-home family get togethers.

You'll find that beer adds an intriguing and refreshing flavor all its own. Try them and see.

SPICED BEER

- 4 cups beer
- ¾ cups cognac
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 2 eggs
- ¼ cup cinnamon
- 3 cloves
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Chill beer and cognac in bowl. Add sugar. Beat eggs and add to remaining ingredients. Mix well.

RUSSIAN BEER

- 1 cup beer, chilled
- 1 ounce vodka

Combine and serve with slice of lemon. (Optional, freshly ground pepper).

SHANDY GAFF

Equal parts beer and ginger ale.

SYLLABUB

- 2 cups beer
- ½ cup raisins
- 2 cups cider
- 1½ quarts milk
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon or nutmeg

(Pour boiling water over raisins and let stand ½-hour. Drain). Combine beer, cider and milk. Chill. Beat mixture until foamy. Pour into punch bowl. Sprinkle raisins over beer mixture. Taste for sweetness, may need sugar. Sprinkle with cinnamon or nutmeg.

HONEY BEER

- 1 cup beer
- 1 teaspoon honey
- Dash cinnamon

Heat but do not boil.

BEER SOUR

- 1 cup cold beer
- 3 tablespoon sugar
- 3 tablespoon lemon juice
- 2 cups cold club soda

Dissolve sugar in juice in large pitcher. Add beer, soda and ice. Mix. Garnish with lemon slice.

Cook Veal Steak as Viennese

Viennese cooks have many ways of preparing veal, the most famous of which is probably Paprika Schnitzel. The other ways are just as delicious though not as famous.

This fine-grained, delicately flavored meat responds best to mild seasonings, advises widely known meat expert, Reba Staggs. That's why chopped parsley, green onions and mushrooms along with a bit of lemon juice accent veal in the following recipe.

Approximately 45 minutes of slow cooking are required when veal steaks are cut in strips, ¾-inch wide. An interesting texture and flash of yellow are added when two eggs are poured over the entree and cooked just until set.

Viennese Veal

- 1½ pounds veal round steak
- ¼ cup lard or drippings
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 2 tablespoons chopped green onions
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ⅛ teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 1 can (4 ounces) button mushrooms
- 1-3 cup liquid from mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 2 eggs
- 6 ounces fine noodles, cooked and seasoned

Remove bone and cut veal steaks into strips about ¾-inch wide. Cook parsley and onion in lard or drippings 5 minutes. Add veal and brown slowly on all sides. Season. Drain mushrooms and reserve liquid. Add mushrooms and 1-3 cup mushroom liquid. Cover tightly and cook slowly 45 minutes. Stir flour into mixture. Add lemon juice and mix well. Beat eggs and add to veal. Cook slowly until eggs are set. Serve on noodles. 4 to 6 servings.

FARMERS ANGRY TOO

Board Faces New Hearings On Appraisal

County supervisors barely dented the mass of tax assessment protests during the first three days of hearings held last week.

A total of 70 cases were disposed of but, as of noon Friday, there were 163 cases to be heard, with more to come.

No further hearings will be held until Friday. Further hearings will be scheduled as required through July 27. The deadline for filing protests and asking for hearings is July 19.

As of noon Friday, the supervisors, sitting as a board of equalization, had granted a reduction in only one case, and that was a small amount involving an individual home.

In all other cases, the board upheld the assessed values assigned by the county assessor.

A number of cases, however, were compromised by the assessor and property owner in advance of the hearings and it remained only for the board to confirm the agreed upon figures.

Still to be filed are the protests of a number of farmers, who were hardest hit by the reassessment program undertaken by Assessor Ralph E. Woodman.

County Clerk John A. Bruning had been advised to expect about 50 farm protests.

The farmers are asking that their holdings be assessed for their actual productive use rather than on what the land might be worth if sold for development.

Prior to the equalization hearing, Woodman agreed to a 40 per cent reduction in the new assessments applied to most farms.

But the owners were not satisfied. They have informed the board that they are agreeable to no more than a 25 per cent increase in property values.

The farmers plan to have all of their hearings recorded by an official reporter, indicating that they want to be prepared to take their cases to court in the event the board does not grant the relief they are asking.

Chamber to Mark Time For Present

Directors of the Daly City-Colma Chamber of Commerce last week decided to defer "for the time being" any further move against the reassessment of county property undertaken by County Assessor Ralph Woodman.

The chamber had written the board of supervisors, strongly protesting the reassessments. Its manager, Peter Markovich, appeared before the board last week and assailed the reappraisal program.

Markovich said this week that the directors want to withhold any further moves, pending the outcome of a recall movement that some county residents have begun against Woodman.

Discussion of the reassessment and the supervisors' decision to ask the State Board of Equalization for a review of the assessment roll occupied most of the director's luncheon meeting in the Friar Room of Serra Bowl.

In other action, the directors:

Authorized the purchase of a duplicator and other office equipment.

Decided to take no action at this time on recommending a new meeting place for the chamber.

Heard a report from Markovich that the chamber's annual business directory will probably be distributed sometime in September. The directory has about 20 advertising spaces left for merchants, he said.

Dues Boost Approved by Coast C of C

Members of the Pacifica Chamber of Commerce, after debating the merits of the proposal in highly spirited fashion, voted 21 to 16 for a hefty boost in their yearly dues last week.

The dues increase had been recommended by a budget committee appointed to find ways in which the chamber's financial base could be broadened.

The new dues schedule calls for an increase of $15 in the basic membership fee to $40. In addition, members will be charged additional fees based on the number of employes in their firms. Maximum dues will be $100 a year.

The new dues schedule, plus increased contributions from the City of Pacifica, will enable the chamber to operate on a budget of $17,400.

Last year, the budget called for an outlay of $9,320. The new budget includes a provision for secretarial help for the first time.

Voting on the new dues schedule took place at a meeting of the chamber Thursday at the Sea Bowl and throughout the remainder of the day.

A ballot box was placed in the chamber's offices for members who were unable to attend the meeting at the Sea Bowl. The chamber has 117 members.

In presenting the proposed budget and the new dues schedule, John Overfield, chamber manager, said the budget committee had tried to draw up a budget that would enable the chamber to operate an expanded program.

He said that it might be possible to develop some kind of outdoor promotion program that would benefit the city's business community.

Stanley Vander Hule, the chamber's new president, called for support of the proposed boost in dues, pointing out that the chamber now has a full-time manager and is operating out of rented quarters for the first time.

Lloyd Sitts, a former president of the chamber, suggested that the chamber would obtain as much or more income from the dues of new members rather than by sharply increasing the fees of the present membership.

He estimated that about 20 per cent of the chamber's roster would quite the organization as a result of higher dues.

"I think the chamberis going in the wrong direction," he declared.

Vander Hule said that the chamber's leadership is mapping plans for a concerted membership drive and that details will be presented at the group's next meeting.

Betsy Day of the Pacifica Play School said the new dues schedule would be unfair to service businesses.

She said that she might be one of the 20 per cent who bows out and added that "I'm a good worker but you haven't called on my services."

She asked for a reconsideration of the proposed increase.

Dennis Davenport, assistant manager of Grant's Department Store in the Linda Mar Shopping Center also criticized the dues proposal.

"I don't think anybody here is opposed to an increase. I do think they are opposed to an increase of 100 to 300 per cent," he said.

Basil Gladieux, former part-time manager of the chamber, said he was concerned with the amount of money the group expects to receive from the city.

The city's contribution is set at $8,400. Last year, the figure was $4,200.

Gladieux said that one of the lessons he received while attending a school for chamber of commerce managers was that a chamber should not depend upon a city for its income.

"I think you're going to have to differ strenously at times with the City of Pacifica and how are you going to do that with these kind of ties," he said.

Overfield said that on the basis of talks with City Manager Karl Baldwin, the city's contribution would probably be closer to $6,000, rather than the $8,400 included in the budget.

Prior to the budget and dues presentation, Vander Hule introduced a visiting Frenchman, Jean-Pierre Sachete, a guest of chamber member and councilwoman Grace McCarthy.

Sachete is studying shopping center operations in the United States and will present a report on his study to the Paris Chamber of Commerce.

Free Ducats For Drawing Distributed

More than 30,000 free tickets have been distributed to date in a month-long drawing for a new Ford Mustang, to be given away by merchants in the Westlake Shopping Center July 30.

Also to be awarded in the drawing are an all-expense-paid vacation for two persons in Las Vegas and a large-sized Magnavox transistor radio.

Gene Perry, advertising director of the center, reminded shoppers that no purchase is necessary to obtain a drawing ticket and that winners need not be present to win.

The drawing is the second to be held for a new Mustang in two years at the center. A similar promotion program was held last July.

Last year, more than 68,000 drawing tickets were distributed.

This year's drawing will be at 9:15 p.m., July 30, in the center's mall. Tickets are available in center stores from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. daily except between 10 a.m. and 9 p.m. Wednesdays and Fridays.

MEN 45 to 60:
It May Be EARLIER Than You THINK!

IF YOUR PRESENT JOB seems to be leading you up a blind alley you may have decided it's too late to do anything about it. This isn't necessarily so. Many of our most successful associates once felt exactly as you feel now . . . frustrated, doubtful, full of unrealized potential.

If you are intelligent, energetic we will train you to become a registered representative for one of the fastest-growing companies (assets in excess of $1,500,000,000) in the fast-growing mutual fund industry.

If you are intelligent, energetic and respected in your community, we want to talk to you. Selling experience is helpful but not necessary. In fact many of our most successful associates had never sold anything until we trained them. If you come with us you will be given intensive training which could start you down the road to a new and richer way of life — you'll learn the secret of helping yourself by helping others. We say again, "It may be earlier than you think." Write or phone for a personal interview. Everything you say or write will be held in strict confidence.
